Rules Against Administration

Virginia Court Decision Hits State In School Fight

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia's massive resistance to school integration laws apparently collapsed today in the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals.

The court in a 5-2 decision ruled against the Almond administration in an action testing the validity of the payment of tuition grants for private schooling and related statutes.

It was not immediately clear how the court ruled on school closure and fund cut-off laws, but since they were directly involved apparently they toppled with the tuition payment statute.

The delay in the specific ruling on these other statutes was caused by a hold-up of the court's formal opinion as well as the dissenting opinion of Justices Harold F. Snead and Willis D. Miller.

Chief Justice John W. Eggleston announced the court's decision tersely to a crowded courtroom. He remarked only that in the case of Atty. Gen. A. S. Harrison Jr. against Comptroller Sidney C. Day, a petition for mandamus has been denied with Justices Miller and Snead dissenting. The action requested an order forcing the comptroller to pay the tuition funds.

Involved in the friendly suit before the high court were the state's school-closure law, fund-cut-off law, tuition grant laws dependent upon the school closing and fund cut-off, and the so-called "Little Rock" laws which would close any school patrolled by federal authorities and which would authorize the governor to close any school faced with actual or threatened disorders.

The school closing law constitutionality also is under test in a suit before a three-judge U.S. District Court at Norfolk. This court indicated it would announce its decision shortly after the state court acted.

President Flies To U.S. For Aid

Crippling Wave Of Strikes Sweeps Across Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A crippling wave of strikes swept Argentina today as President Arturo Frondizi flew to the United States for help to pull his country out of economic chaos.

With diehard followers of exiled dictator Juan D. Peron egging workers toward open revolt, government officials served notice they would call out troops if violence erupted.

The capital was in a virtual state of siege as orders went out to conscripts in the 24-26 age class to stand by for a call from the army "at any moment."

Frondizi was due in Charleston, S. C., today to start a two-week state visit. He arrives in Washington Tuesday to confer with President Eisenhower and other top officials.

Left at home to direct action against the strikers were Senate Chairman Jose Maria Guido, acting president, and Alfredo Vitolo, acting minister of national defense and interior minister.

Scattered violence Sunday pointed up the gravity of the situation.

One bomb went off in La Plata, 35 miles southeast of the capital, doing about $1,000 in damage to the building housing the U. S. Information Service. Another exploded in the capital, damaging the home of Rogelio Frigerio, economic adviser to the president.

Frondizi told newsmen during a stopover in Lima his regime stands ready to take strong action to prevent Peronist labor leaders from starting an uprising.

"Some union sectors think they can take the country over," he declared. His government meanwhile declared the strikes illegal, meaning that strikers lose their rights under the country's labor laws.

But orders to stop work mounted swiftly. Trolleys, buses and subways in Buenos Aires were paralyzed. Oil workers, utility

Sample Files For 3rd Term

Hempstead To Seek Return At Lisbon

Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr., 606 McKinnon Ave., filed today for renomination on the Republican ticket for his third term as member-at-large.

Meanwhile, Clerk-Treasurer Ray H. Hempstead of Lisbon announced he will seek re-election on the Republican ticket at the May 5 primary.

Sample is the second at-large member to seek re-election. A Stanley Kidder filed for his second term Saturday.

Sample is a veteran in Council, serving as Third Ward representative before being named as a member-at-large.

He is employed at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. and is a member of the First United Presbyterian Church, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Hempstead is office manager and purchasing agent for the Lisbon Lumber Co. He will be seeking his third elective term. He was appointed as village clerk to succeed Edgar Hoopes, who resigned, serving in 1954-55. He then was elected clerk for one term and clerk-treasurer for one term.

A graduate of Lisbon High School, he attended Hiram College and served as chief petty officer in a Naval construction battalion during World War II.

He is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and John J. Welsh American Legion Post. He is married, the father of two daughters and resides on Stadium Heights.

2 Plead Guilty In Charges Of Grand Jurors

A city man and a Wellsville man pleaded guilty at arraignment held this morning at Lisbon before Judge Joel H. Sharp for 9 of 19 persons indicted by the January Grand Jury.

Arnold Adkins, 23, of 717 E. 4th St. pleaded guilty and asked probation on a charge of operating a vehicle without the consent of the owner, Kenneth Eddy, 1256 1/2 Pennsylvania Ave.

Ray Junior Hess of Kountz Ave., Wellsville, pleaded guilty and asked probation on a charge of robbery of Clyde Finley of Chester in July.

William Drumm of Chester R. D. 1, indicted with Hess on the same charge, pleaded not guilty. Robert Higgins of R. D. 1, indicted with them, had not filed a plea today.

Paul Elson, 36, of Salem, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted rape of a minor. He asked probation.

Those filing innocent pleas were Oliver Holbrook, 26, of Falston, Pa., receiving and concealing property stolen from an East Palestine sports shop.

Jeff R. Whan, 34, of Darlington, driving while intoxicated Aug. 30.

Jack Shields, 23, of Wellsville R. D. 1, rape of a 36-year-old Lisbon woman.

Barry Scott Weigle, 27, of East Palestine, second degree manslaughter in a truck-school bus accident in which a 12-year-old boy was killed.

Harris Shasteen of Hanoverton R. D. 2, non-support.

Mayor Still Waits Word On Director's Decision

Mayor Fred P. Lawrence said today he expects to receive Safety Service Director Dan Maggiani's final decision on his resignation sometime this week.

If Maggiani decides to go ahead with his resignation, the mayor indicated he hopes to announce the appointment of a new director at the same time.

Maggiani resigned in December, effective a week ago, but the resignation was held in abeyance after Mayor Lawrence appealed for him to reconsider.

Snow Storm Due To Total 3 To 5 Inches

'Hazardous Driving' Warning Issued For District Motorists

The state issued an official "hazardous driving warning" for this afternoon and tonight on the heels of a forecast that calls for 3 to 5 inches of new snow today on top of the 6 inches that hit the district Friday.

Highway conditions were rugged before the new snowfall started early this morning, as a heavy layer of powdery snow—with ice in many places—still remained from the storm that struck four days ago.

Continued snow and drifting on area roads brought suspension of classes at some rural schools today, and others were considering early closing this afternoon.

Some 926 pupils at the Fairfield-Waterford Schools were dismissed this morning as roads became more hazardous and drifting increased.

United Local students in the Hanoverton area and Southern Local pupils at Salineville, Wayne and Highlandtown areas were to be released early this afternoon, officials said.

Beaver Local authorities said the seven schools in the district may be dismissed early this afternoon if the snow continues, but no decision had been made by noon to cut classes short.

Gusty winds will help pile up drifts in unprotected areas today, the weatherman warned. There will be frequent snow squalls throughout the afternoon and tonight, continuing into Tuesday, he added.

Warm temperatures helped produce the new snow. The mercury hit a high of 17 at 3 p. m. Sunday at Dam 8 in Newell and fell to an overnight low of 13. A warming trend set in after midnight, boosting the mercury to 27 at 7 this morning. The high today will hit 30 and the overnight low will be 8-12, the weatherman said.

The storm today is the eighth of the winter. Cold weather is due to continue through most of the week, the forecaster said in a five-day outlook.

Temperatures will average 6-10 degrees below normal in the next five days, the weatherman said. The normal high for this time of the year is 35 in the northern section.

No Concession On Berlin

Mikoyan Winds Up Talks With New Trade Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan winds up his Washington talks today with a final appeal for expanded Soviet trade.

He has given no hint of concession in the Soviet Union's policy on disputed Berlin.

Mikoyan renewed on a nationwide radio-TV network Sunday night the Soviet demand that the Western powers pull out of West Berlin. He described as "impossible" a suggestion that the Soviet proposal for a West Berlin free city be broadened to include Communist East Berlin as well.

The Soviet leader faced another and final round of Washington questioning today at a National Press Club luncheon.

His schedule included a conference with the State Department's top economic expert, Deputy Under Secretary Douglas Dillon. It was expected that he would also talk Soviet-American trade during the day with Secretary of Commerce Lewis Strauss. He has urged increased U.S.-Soviet trade in a series of meetings with bankers and businessmen during a coast-to-coast tour.

He leaves for Moscow by way of New York Tuesday.

Despite the lack of any new suggestions from Mikoyan for breaking the Berlin deadlock, U.S. officials believe that an East-West foreign ministers' conference on German issues is probable in a few months. They will begin consultations with the NATO allies this week in an effort to develop detailed Western proposals.

Mikoyan's performance before the TV cameras — NBC-Meet the Press—added up to an unbending defense of every Soviet policy of action about which he was asked by a panel of four newsmen. His replies covered support for Red China over Formosa, crushing of the anti-communist revolt in Hungary and the handling of American news in the Soviet press.

Would Boost Postal Rates And Gas Tax

President Declares That Military Setup Won't Be Affected

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today sent Congress a 77-billion-dollar budget forecasting a spending cut of nearly four billion dollars and a precarious surplus of 70 millions. He called it "a confident budget" that assumes a surge of prosperity.

Eisenhower said the budget aims to restrain inflationary forces that "cheapen our money and

$6 Million More Asked For 'Super Dam' Work

A new appropriation of $6.8 million to continue construction of the Stratton "super dam" in the fiscal year starting July 1 was asked by President Eisenhower today in his annual budget message to Congress.

The fund was sought as part of the appropriation for flood control, navigation, power and reclamation projects. Work started on the Stratton project in November 1955. The Savin Construction Co. of East Hartford, Conn., holds the contract for the locks while the dam is being built by the Dravo Construction Co. of Neville Island.

erode our savings." He also said it paves the way for a tax cut "in the reasonably foreseeable future."

No tax cuts were proposed for the present. In fact, to help achieve the first balanced budget in three years, the President is asking Congress to boost postal rates and gasoline taxes. He also wants some tax loopholes plugged.

Any added postal revenues and proceeds from loophole plugging would increase budget receipts. Gas tax money would go into a separate trust fund which, Eisenhower said, would otherwise have to be replenished out of the budget.

Eisenhower said his fiscal blueprint, for all its emphasis on economy, promises to "increase our military effectiveness." The budget calls for hiking Defense department military spending by 145 million dollars but projects a cut of 462 millions in arms aid to other nations.

Democrats in Congress generally were critical of the budget. Republicans welcomed the plans for a budget balance and said the alternative is more inflation.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) called the figures unrealistic, saying he found it hard to believe that congress will increase gasoline taxes or postal rates.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) said he hopes for a balanced budget but added "I don't see much chance for it under the President's proposals."

For the Republicans, House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.) praised Eisenhower's budget, which he said "will provide for a strong defense, for progress in meeting human needs, and for a

Ozarks Still Combed For Farmer's Son, 3

LEBANON, Mo. (AP)—Despite waning hope, a massive search for a farmer's 3-year-old son continued in a hilly, densely wooded area today.

If he is alive, Willard Eugene Jones Jr. had to survive Saturday's 19-degree temperatures in this Ozark Mountain region.

The boy was wearing a hooded snowsuit and cowboy boots when he wandered away from his brother, Wilbert, 15, who was cutting firewood.

The boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jones Sr., have eight other children.

City Man Hurt As Auto Spins On 'Super Rd.'

Two Others Escape Injuries When Cars Leave Highways

A city man was injured in one of three weekend traffic accidents in the district, in which a Canton priest and a Wellsville woman escaped injury, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Leo Garvey, 33, of 863 Fairview St. was hurt when his car struck an embankment along the East Liverpool-Wellsville "super road" Saturday afternoon after spinning around while passing another car.

Officers said Garvey lost control while passing and his car spun backward into the embankment, continued turning and hit the embankment again.

He was admitted to City Hospital with fractured ribs and multiple abrasions. The mishap occurred at 4:30 p. m. about a mile south of the city limits. Officers cited him for reckless operation.

Fr. James F. Ryan, 40, of Mercy Hospital at Canton was unhurt when his car skidded off a curve of Route 30 about five miles east of Hanoverton Sunday night and struck a utility pole. His 1956 sedan was demolished, officers said.

Pauline Smiley, 26, of 936 Denver St. was unhurt when her car went off the right side of Route

'Moon Ship,' Navy Says Of New Engine

Retired Potter Loses Life As Clothes Flame

Andrew Shingleton Burns To Death As Sweater's Ignited

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP)—The Navy has a new rocket engine which it says can land man on the moon—gently—and bring him back alive.

The engine was disclosed Sunday by the Naval Ordnance Test Station here along with another development: a safe new way of packaging dangerous fuels that scientists say will eliminate long countdowns.

Douglas D. Ordahl, head of the station's missile propulsion division, told a news conference "we hope to make a test vehicle within the next six months."

During ground tests, the engine has developed thrusts of up to 10,000 pounds — compared with the 400,000-pound thrust of the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile.

But Ordahl said, "There is no limit to the ultimate size and power of the engine."

Some of the test engines, Ordahl said, have burned as long as four hours, throttled down.

"Their fuel missiles burn up all their current in a minute or so," he said. "The new engine does not have to burn all its fuel at once. It can burn only what is necessary and save the remainder for later spurts."

"We have had engines that could go to the moon—if we had proper control over them," he said. "This new engine gives us that control."

An elderly East Liverpool man, who lived alone in an apartment at 137 W. 4th St., burned to death Sunday morning when his sweater apparently caught fire from a heating stove.

Andrew Raymond (Doc) Shingleton, 71, was found by another roomer, John Caruso, who notified police at 12:35 p. m.

Police said roomers at the apartment were in the habit of checking on Mr. Shingleton, who had been in ill health.

Dr. Roy C. Costello, deputy Columbiana County Coroner, said the man apparently was trying to turn off the gas stove when his sweater ignited. He had been dead about four hours when found, Dr. Costello said.

The entire upper portion of the body was burned severely, authorities said. He was able to crawl to a nearby chair but apparently was unable to call for help, police said.

The body was found in an upright position and the back was burned out of the chair. None of the other tenants smelled smoke.

Patrolman William Devon investigated, along with Capt. R. H. Pyle and Patrolman Thomas A. Walker.

A retired potter, Mr. Shingleton lived in East Liverpool most of his life. He was born Sept. 13, 1887, in St. Marys, W. Va., a son of the late James and India Stout Shingleton. He was a veteran of World War I. He also was a member of the Chester Christian Church.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Bernard Poole of Chester, Mrs. Lillian Rau of South Gate, Calif., (Turn to POTTER, Page 5)

16 Girls Hurt In Wild Ride Down Ski Run

NORTH CONWAY, N.H. (AP)—Sixteen terrified teen-age girls were injured, one seriously, when they went sliding down a 3,000-foot ice-glazed ski trail on 3,000-foot high Cranmore Mountain Sunday.

The trail had been closed to skiing as hazardous. In a frolicsome mood the girls decided to try sliding.

Almost instantly their speed was beyond their control and they were thrown against trees, brush and rocks as they plummeted 100 yards down the steep, icy trail.

About an inch of glare ice, left by freezing rain, encrusted a foot of snow.

When found, they were strewn about the trail, bruised and bleeding, some unable to stand.

Most seriously injured was Carol Di Spirito, 16, who suffered pelvic and lumbar spinal fractures and bladder injury. Five girls were held at Memorial Hospital for less serious injuries. Ten others were treated at the hospital and released.

The girls were among about 200 members of St. Patrick's Catholic Youth Organization of Lawrence, Mass., who went to the ski resort on the parish's second annual winter sports party.

Giant Rally Set In Havana

Castro Calls On Newsmen To Come And Learn Truth

HAVANA Cuba (AP)—Fidel Castro said today he has invited 350 newsmen and commentators from the United States and Latin America to attend a giant rally called in Havana Wednesday to show support for his speedy trial and execution of Batista henchmen.

The revolutionary chief said he also had invited U.S. congressmen who "in recent days have severely criticized the executions of war criminals by the revolutionary army."

A statement from Castro's press headquarters said personal invitations had gone out to the foreign journalists. A spokesman said five planes would be sent to Miami to pick up those wishing to attend and another plane might go on to Washington.

"We have extended the invitation," Castro's statement said, "so that the truth of what is happening in Cuba may be told to all citizens of every country in America. We believe that if the truth is known any misunderstanding that has occurred in recent days regarding the situation in our country will disappear."

Castro has called for a half million Havana residents to turn out Wednesday to back his regime's rejection of foreign criticism of the speedy execution of those convicted of killing opponents of ex-dictator Fulgencio Batista.

The auxiliary Roman Catholic bishop of Havana, Msgr. Alfredo Muller, Sunday night endorsed the executions, reported to have reached 207 throughout Cuba.

Appearing on a television interview with revolutionary chief Fidel Castro, Bishop Muller said he personally opposes capital punishment but that the church permits it in some instances.

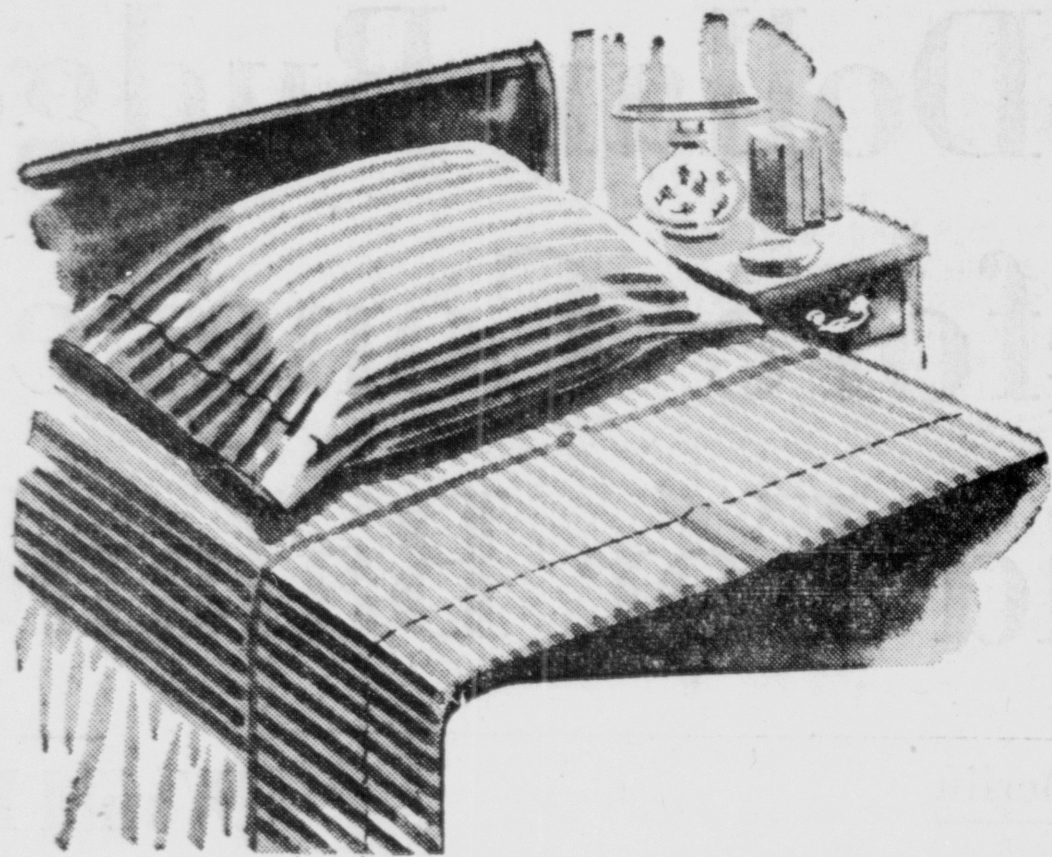

"In this case it is justified," he declared.

Although Castro avoided saying when the Havana trials would get under way, he said they would be conducted under a military code and open to the public.

"I want everyone to see clearly," he declared.

Deaths and Funerals

Death Claims
Fairview ManW. W. McGaffie's
Rites Set Tuesday

William Wesley McGaffie of Fairview, Ohio Township, died early Sunday morning at his home after a brief illness. He was 83.

He was born in Ohio Township July 27, 1875, a son of the late Benjamin and Sarah Barclay McGaffie. He was a farmer in Chippewa Township, Beaver County, for many years and in later years was employed at the Midland Milling and Supply Co., retiring in 1952. He attended the Darlington United Presbyterian Church at Darlington.

He is survived by a son, Jonathan L. McGaffie of McDonald, Pa.; a daughter, Mrs. Ethel Chaffee of Ohio Township; a sister, Mrs. Lula Hunter of East Liverpool, and 10 grandchildren and 5 great grandchildren. His wife, Mrs. Bertha Taylor McGaffie, died in 1954.

Services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the J. T. Anderson Funeral Home at Beaver by the Rev. Robert Boone, pastor of the Darlington Church. Services also will be held at the Beaver Cemetery Chapel and burial will be held at a later date at the Hilland Cemetery in Ohio Township.

George W. Dixon

George W. Dixon of New Cumberland died Saturday at 5:30 p. m. at the Fox Nursing Home in Chester. He was 79.

Mr. Dixon was born in West Wheeling, Ohio, and had spent most of his life in Hancock County. A retired millworker, he worked in his later years at Tomlinson Run State Park, near Pughtown.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Bletzing of Coraopolis.

Services will be held Tuesday at 1 p. m. at the Arner Chester Chapel by the Rev. Howard Bright.

of the Chester Methodist Church. Burial will be in Pughtown Flats Cemetery.

Friends may call anytime at the funeral home.

Mrs. Jay Ranson

Services were held Saturday at St. Clairsville for Mrs. Delia Nicholson Ranson, 75, wife of the Rev. Jay Ranson of Mt. Lebanon, Pa., former Wellsville minister, who died Wednesday in Washington, D. C. Burial was there.

Mrs. Ranson was taken ill while en route to Florida. Rev. Ranson served at the Wellsville United Presbyterian Church about 12 years ago. He and Mrs. Ranson were former missionaries in India. A daughter and three grandchildren also survive.

Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight.

Francis Schwartz

Francis Joseph Schwartz of Lisbon St. Ext. died Sunday at 6:45 p. m. at his home following an illness of six weeks. He was 67.

He was born in Pittsburgh, Nov. 2, 1891, and lived in this vicinity 20 years. He was employed as a laborer at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. for 35 years. He was member of St. Alloysius Catholic Church, the Fraternal Order of Eagles at Wellsville and United Steel Workers Local 1212 of Midland.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Gertrude Schwartz, at home; three sons, Michael Schwartz, Martin Schwartz and John Schwartz, all of East Liverpool; five daughters, Mrs. Anna Hughes, Mrs. Gertrude Campbell, and Mrs. Norma Bolton, all of East Liverpool, Mrs. Mildred Brooks of Hookstown and Mrs. June Snowden of Lawrenceville.

Services will be held Wednesday at the Henry Funeral Home by the Rev. George Teague, her son-in-law and pastor of the Concord, N. H., Nazarene Church, assisted by the Rev. Frank C. Brickley, pastor of the Lisbon Nazarene Church. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A foreign aid program emphasizing more economic and less military assistance was offered to Congress today.

The over-all cost of foreign aid for the year starting next July 1 will drop from this year's level, President Eisenhower said in his budget message. But he asked a higher appropriation for the years ahead.

At the same time, he added, this country should help promote the economic stability and growth of less developed countries where want and suffering abound.

Eisenhower asked $3,930,000,000 in new foreign aid money, including $1,600,000,000 in military aid.

Actual spending during the year, he said, is estimated at $3,498,000,000, including $1,850,000,000 for military assistance. Much of the spending, especially for military aid, comes from funds appropriated in previous years.

The spending total is 383 million dollars less than the estimate for the current year. A drop of 462 millions in arms aid spending is partially offset by a 79 million increase in grants, loans and other forms of economic assistance.

Eisenhower asked another 225 million dollars for use before June 30 and 700 millions for next year for long-term easy-payment loans under the Development Loan Fund. These would help underdeveloped nations improve their standard of living.

Mrs. Wyretta McCowin

EAST PALESTINE — Mrs. Wyretta McCowin, 437 E. Martin St., was found dead at home Sunday afternoon about 3 after apparently suffering a heart attack or stroke. A physician who had been treating her for an arm burn came to the house and notified police when he could not get in.

Born at Fredonia, Pa., in August 1881, she was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. S. Dilley. She was married in 1907 to Harry D. McCowin, who has died.

The body was removed to the VanDyke Funeral Home, where arrangements are pending.

Mrs. Sylvia Scott

LISBON — Mrs. Sylvia Irene Scott, 56, of Lisbon R. D. 1 died Sunday noon at Salem City Hospital, where she had been a patient seven weeks. She had been in ill health for about a year.

Born April 3, 1902, in Madison Township, a daughter of Samuel and Lydia Allison McGarvey, she lived in this vicinity all her life. She was a member of the Nazarene Church.

Mrs. Scott leaves her husband, Rollin Scott, at home; a son, Wayne A. Scott of Pittsburgh; two daughters, Mrs. Paul Barnes of Lisbon and Mrs. George Teague of Concord, N. H.; a brother, Francis McGarvey of Canton; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Jackson and Mrs. Lena Keirns of Lisbon and Mrs. Hazel Grate of Columbiana, and seven grandchildren.

Services will be held Wednesday at the Henry Funeral Home by the Rev. George Teague, her son-in-law and pastor of the Concord, N. H., Nazarene Church, assisted by the Rev. Frank C. Brickley, pastor of the Lisbon Nazarene Church. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

New Way Without Surgery
Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astounding statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H.

EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW

A Dependable Newspaper Serving the Tri-State District

A Tribute To The Skywatchers

A final word of tribute is in order for those who have been members of the district's Ground Observer Corps before their duties officially come to an end on Jan. 31.

Of special interest here are the award meetings this week for the East Liverpool and Calcutta groups. The two programs will serve as a deserving final curtain for those who have served so faithfully the last few years.

When one thinks of observer posts in inland areas such as East Liverpool, this question comes to mind: "What good would they have been if the enemy had struck?" Fortunately, the enemy has not struck and the answer is not available or necessary.

It seems to us, however, that the GOC's true worth has been one of a psychological rather than of a practical nature. It's possible that the posts would have been of some value had enemy planes roared overhead. But it's most doubtful that they would have proved a major obstacle in the face of an invading force.

The post's value instead lay in the symbolic nature of their work—volunteer groups on guard for the American democracy they cherish. These were people—housewives, businessmen, laborers, those from all walks of life—giving of their time and energy to perpetuate a phase of defense which their country felt necessary. It was reassuring that they answered when the call came.

With the development of the scientific and mechanical marvels which now safeguard our shores and boundaries, the role of the skywatcher has to take a back seat.

Were they to continue, it would be as if a modern-day Paul Revere went riding through the city's streets crying the alarm while the more complex and far more adequate means of communication were ignored.

But when he made his famous ride as the British were coming, Paul Revere was an American of towering stature. He had not been found wanting.

So it is with the GOC members. They, too, must fade into the background of modern science. But they can do so firm in the knowledge that they also were not found wanting.

They were the Paul Reverses of their day in a phase of Civilian Defense.

Big Labor Will Have Objections

What was reported first as a rumor now is being reported as a fact: The Republican National Committee will be urged to change the big-business image of the Republican party.

The Wall Street Journal says this will be one of the committee chairman's recommendations when the committee meets at Des Moines. But it is no easier to understand as a fact than it was as a rumor.

Aside from the fact the Republican party should be proud to bear the reputation of being able to understand the source of the nation's wealth, there is the further fact that nothing the Republican party can do will make its political opponents quit accusing it of being over-sympathetic to business. That has been, since the time of William Jennings Bryan, the chief stock in trade of one kind of Democratic orator.

It has paid off; it has been good politics. Its lack of truth has not hurt it in the least. In every campaign, sooner or later, Democratic candidates have fomented against the Republican party on the grounds of its affiliation with big business, Wall Street, bankers, the gold standard, "malefactors of great wealth" and so on. It is one of the oldest political tricks in the book and nothing under the sun will make Democrats quit using it — as long as it works.

But the thought must have occurred to millions of Americans the last few years that Republicans are entitled to a counterattack. They could start mentioning more pointedly the opposition's reputation for understanding how to get along with the big men of the labor unions and the Big Daddies of the Solid South.

There is a remarkable bond of sympathy between and among them, even when they pretend they are checking up on one another. If the theme were hammered on hard enough, the idea that what is good for Walther Reuther is good for the country might hurt a little. Or the idea that what is good for Orval Faubus is good for the country. The very thought gives Democrats the willies.

Others Might Call It Diversion

The Ohio Legion News has a sparkling theory about non-participation in evening meetings. The American Legion isn't the only activity in Ohio that is wondering where its members are when the chairman calls an evening meeting to order.

The culprit, the Ohio Legion News believes, is television. "In the dream world of the TV addict," says the magazine says, "the tendency is to shrug off all individual responsibilities that cannot be met conveniently. Lost in the shuffle may be personal participation, support, or even leadership in veterans' parent - teacher, religious, labor, political, educational, welfare, civic and service organizations."

In summing up the indictment against TV, Ohio Legion News calls for co-existence. "Tell the world there are some things more important than vegetating in a world of entertainment (plus commercials)" is its ringing advice to readers who have been staying away from Legion meetings, traditionally held in the evenings. "Sagging membership and activity are the symptoms of apathy," the Legion News philosophizes, "and the main cause of this apathy is unquestionably electronic."

Others might say, instead, that these are symptoms of diversion, not apathy. It never has been a secret that many organizations owed their existence to the acute need of their members for something to do with their time. They were havens for people who were bored and lonely. Whatever television is not doing that it might be doing, it is keeping millions from wondering what they will do until bedtime. They have found diversion in their own homes.

Hold It, Zeke

A bloc of senatorial "agrarians" who haven't been back to the farm in so many years they don't know it has inside plumbing will make a blooper if they keep pushing the corn tassel for America's national flower.

They are hoping to sweeten up their corn-raising constituents. But it's our notion that they haven't talked to their constituents at close range for so long they have lost touch with rural reality.

There isn't a farmer of our acquaintance who thinks of a corn tassel as a flower. Farmers may admire a tassel in the same way they admire a head of wheat, which also is a mighty fine sight. But farmers do not think of corn tassels as posies. That is the kind of thing that only a politician shilling for eternal gratitude would dream up.

Whatever Congress may choose as a national flower, it should be a flower. David Burpee, the seed man, is proposing the marigold, because it is a native flower and can be grown anywhere by anyone. At least, it's a flower, even if its odor leaves much to be desired.

On Second Thought

This is a second-thought rewrite of an impatient look at Christmas that I'm glad you never got to read. Now that all is calm again, and bright, I've decided not to boycott Santa Claus.

I watched, once again, preparations for the holy day develop into a family rat race to outdo our past, and each other. It started before our Thanksgiving turkey had been boiled into soup. Seems to start earlier every year.

I conceived a plan to cushion the offense it gives me; then never dared even suggest it in my own house, where my strange, unorthodox notions are taken in stride. Now I'm glad that I didn't.

To upset the annual panic, if possible at all, would only further clinch the family suspicion that the old man means all right, just doesn't want his routine disturbed. That's not it, at all.

I DON'T LIKE the mercenary influence that the modern Christmas is exerting on our seven grandchildren and three great grands. We are giving them a reverse impression of the day; might as well call it "Gimme Day," I thought.

Memory reverts to the kind of Christmas that I wish all of them could experience. Good fortune has deprived them of the true spirit of Christmas.

Grandpappy's stories of meager childhood Christmases roll off like fairy tales. I'll not bore you with one; you wouldn't believe them either.

But they are among the most assertive of memories. They have helped me understand people and Christmas as our children never will. A Christmas of privation can be a gift of God, concealed.

The revolutionary idea that smoldered as 1938's Christmas grew more commercial than ever, was not that giving be discouraged nor that the Yule season be wholly divested of its worldly glamour.

It was to transfer the carnival aspect to New Year's and observe Christmas strictly as a holy day. It would seem to satisfy the ultra devout, and give the money changers an added week to hawk their wares.

THERE IS A rollicking, hilarious aura about New Year's that smacks of much that has crept into Christmas.

But I couldn't figure how to separate the peculiar types of merriment and reverence that are inherent only in Christmas, and are no incongruous at all. Each enhances the other.

The intriguing mixture brings to millions their only consciousness of Christ. The literate world cannot escape the impact of Christmas. The smallest child can comprehend it. Out of the ages comes the warning:

Stick to the original formula; guard jealously the basic ingredient—reverence; keep it dominant, but joyful.

Flavor with each generation's wholesome merriment; make the elixir pleasant to take. Don't fuss too much about the package. Keep it recognizable as grandpa's recipe for peace of soul.

And every year I need a bigger dose.

Experiments in industry have shown that 19 per cent more energy is needed to do a job in noisy surroundings than in quiet. It takes more concentration to accomplish one's business in a noisy room, which means tenser muscles, stepped-up metabolism, and increased consumption of oxygen, and this results in greater tiredness.

New York State has more people living in it than the entire country of Canada.

Agonizing Reappraisal Time

The Example Set By Robert E. Lee

By Ralph McGill

It was almost as if an innocent child had asked a question. But it was no child. It was a woman, old enough to have children in high school.

On two successive days in deep-south Georgia two federal judges, both native to the state and each high in the esteem of the state's people, had handed down anti-segregation decisions.

The first was in the field of trolley and bus transportation.

The second was in education. A unit of the state university system was notified by the court that segregation of qualified students was unconstitutional.

The call from the troubled lady was typical. She had heard the news on television. She telephoned to ask for more complete information and for verification. She was informed that the judge had in fact ruled that segregation of qualified students by reason of race or color was a violation of the federal law.

"But," she said, "the judge can't do that. It's unconstitutional."

THERE, REVEALED in all its innocence, was the dilemma of several millions of people in the Deep South. They are indeed, as some of their orators have described them, a "brave, hospitable and patriotic people."

Their political leadership has from the start deceived them by saying that the Supreme Court of the United States has acted unconstitutionally.

These same persons have argued, chiefly through attorneys making not inconsequential fees out of representing the states, that massive resistance will be sufficient answer to the illegal action of the high court.

These attorneys have received considerable advertising as "leading constitutional authorities."

They are familiar figures in all the Southern States. It cannot be said that they are modest fellows or that they are inarticulate. Nor can it be charged they cringe from self-advertisement.

But what now has begun to happen in the Deep South is that local judges, "Bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh," have begun to rule. The due processes of law are slow. Now, five years after a Supreme Court decision, native jurists in the various states are handing down decisions. They are judges familiar with Southern traditions. They are aware of the massive resistance. It is quite likely they are entirely out of sympathy with the 1954 decision.

But, acting under oath, and charge with supporting the Constitution, they are notifying the states involved that the government of the United States and its institutions of law are still in force.

The Constitution, as interpreted by the Supreme Court, is a mandate of both state courts and federal courts.

This comes, quite understandably, as a shock to many thousands of persons who, quite properly, have looked to their leadership for interpretation and guidance.

Some of these leaders have said, "We will never surrender."

They have urged upon the people of their states that they refuse "to surrender" as a matter of principle.

THIS OVERLOOKS a historical precedent, if anyone is interested. It was the noble Robert E. Lee, hero to both the South and the North, who, against the advice and wishes of most of his staff, determined to surrender at Appomattox. He himself was heartbroken, he said, he knew further resistance could result only in greater harm to the South. There would be more blood shed. Greater casualties would follow. The list of the killed would lengthen. Additional property would be destroyed. There would be more restrictive measures.

But, most of all, he knew that the young people of the South would bear a greater burden.

So, because he loved the South more than his own career, his own pride, his own reputation, his own pocketbook, he spent hours in prayer and then arose from his knees to write out an offer of surrender.

Because of his devotion to duty, he has been honored since that grim, heart-break day.

He abandoned no principles. He did not surrender, rather he believed the opposition to be "right." He was, first of all, a man of integrity and devotion. He surrendered to save the South from further loss. Thereafter, until his death, he preached loyalty and support of the Union.

Gen. Lee was not a politician trying to protect himself in office against those who might thereafter claim he was "soft" in opposition to Yankees. Nor was he a lawyer earning a fee from a state client.

He had in mind his region, its people — and more particularly — the children of the South. He devoted the rest of his life to teaching them.

But, then, he was Gen. Lee. And, maybe it is true we shall not look upon his like again.

Opportunity For Colleges

By Raymond Moley

In recent years everyone has been made aware of the financial difficulties of private colleges and universities.

With ever-mounting tax burdens and the steady flow of fortunes into foundations, a large part of the support formerly provided for the private institutions has been stopped.

Hovering over this real need is the shadow of more federal aid for scholarships and many other purposes once cared for by the institutions themselves.

Any considerable dependence upon such federal aid would endanger that independence and freedom of inquiry of which the great universities of the world have been the repositories since medieval times.

But money must be had somehow from some source to provide the higher salaries essential to attracting those singularly gifted minds which must always be the real heart of higher education, as well as the scientific equipment and library facilities needed to keep pace with the march of knowledge.

A NEW SOURCE of financial support, which is realized by many institutions in large cities, is the fees paid by students of all ages who are gainfully employed but have the capacity and desire for continuing education.

At Columbia University a sharp division of opinion has developed in the past year over the appropriate function of a university in the field of education and scholarship.

For many years Columbia has offered courses for students of all ages over the city who are able to give only part of their time to attendance.

These used to be called extension courses but in the past few years these have been included in a School of General Studies under Dean Louis M. Hacker, who has established much stricter standards of instruction and has broadened the base of its offerings. Many of its students have been of graduate status.

Then there was a committee of members of the university faculty, which made a report critical of Dean Hacker's program and which concluded that "the university can most usefully bring multiplying effects to bear in training scholars who will be teachers in colleges and universities" and also that "emphasis in graduate work should be on the training of PhD candidates."

With this report Dean Hacker sharply took issue and resigned as dean.

In his annual report, just issued, Dr. Hacker has elaborated his ideas concerning the usefulness of a university in a great community. His case is most convincingly made.

HE NOT ONLY points to the vast number of potential students among the otherwise employed in a city like New York, if they could be enrolled without passing through the routine of rigid entrance requirements but he challenges some of the sacred traditions of professional training.

Notably, he attacks the requirement for a four-year undergraduate degree before professional studies can begin. He very acutely points his finger at a means of tightening up high school and undergraduate instruction so that a person can enter his profession at an earlier age.

At present, the eight years of high school and undergraduate "study" are stuffed with soft courses, unnecessarily long vacations and low standards.

With a tightening up at those levels, doctors, lawyers and engineers and others might enter service to humanity at a considerably lower age.

During the war, shortened years of preparation, with less time for vacations, gave evidence of what can be done in toning up and hastening the training of a professional man or woman.

Most significant, too, are Dr. Hacker's figures concerning the large source of financial support available from the fees of students in his School of General Studies. Thus, the extension of educational opportunity to more people is not only a needed service to the community but a means of helping colleges and universities to make ends meet, without resort to the dangerous course of federal subsidies.

Ike's Nearing The 'Oldest' Record

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower — a little over 68 and beginning his seventh year in office Tuesday—is still a couple of years shy-of being the oldest man who ever occupied the White House.

Andrew Jackson still has the distinction of being the oldest president in American history. But Eisenhower will have been the oldest by the time his second full term ends.

Jackson was almost 62 when he took office. He was just a few days short of 70 when his second term was up. Eisenhower was a little over 62 when he went into the presidency in 1953.

On the day he steps out — Jan. 20, 1961 — he will be 70 years, 3 months and 6 days old, or about 3½ months older than Jackson.

Today Eisenhower is 68 years, 3 months, and 5 days old. Two other presidents—James Buchanan and Harry S. Truman—were still in office at an older age than that. Buchanan was just a month younger than Jackson when he finished: 69 years, 10 months, and 11 days old.

Jackson was 69 years, 11 months and 19 days old. When Truman finished in 1953 he was 68 years, eight months and 12 days old, or five months older than Eisenhower is now.

William H. Harrison, who took office at 68, would have been the oldest president in history if he had finished out his term. But he died a month after becoming president. He was then 68 years, one month and 25 days old.

Harrison, at least, set one record: he was the oldest man ever elected to the presidency.

Of the 33 men who have been president only seven — including Eisenhower, Jackson, Buchanan, Truman and Harrison — were in their sixties when elected to office, 20 were in their fifties, and only six in their forties.

The seven, with their ages when they went into the White House: John Adams (61), Jackson (61), Harrison (68), Zachary Taylor (64), Buchanan (65), Truman (60), and Eisenhower (62). Taylor died in office at 65.

Here are the six presidents who took office in their forties: James K. Polk (49), Franklin Pierce (48), U.S. Grant (46), James A. Garfield (49), Grover Cleveland (47), and the youngest, Theodore Roosevelt (42).

January True To Form

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK

January is running true to form — and that is a comfort in itself. Last year January wasn't as good as usual and tipped businessmen off that the steep slide into the recession trough was just ahead. A couple of years back January was better than usual, riding the boom that took its toll in a rising cost of living.

This year January is behaving in its normal, healthy way.

More persons out of work than last fall although industrial output is up. Many wage scales higher but take home pay for most workers down because of the increased withholding for higher social security taxes. Debt conscious Americans trying to clear up their Christmas bills and still take advantage of the clearance sales.

The rise in unemployment in December and January is unpleasant but expected — and largely seasonal. It comes from the normal drop in outdoor work — aggravated this time by bad weather in many sections. Factory employment, particularly in nondurables, is holding up well, and foretelling better days ahead when outdoor jobs open up again.

After their biggest Christmas ever, retailers are predicting even higher volume this year. Some may be hurt by the unusually early Easter but expect to make that up later on.

The auto industry is building up stocks, as it does in a normal January. It still has to prove the sales appeal of the new models.

Construction, in spite of the weather, continues to be a shining star in the economy. Housing starts to continue to increase, in contrast to a year ago when the home building industry was groggy. Construction contract awards foreshadow greater activity in the spring.

Mostly, though, January is shaping up as being neither very good nor very bad for business.

February and March could be more decisive months for business, but having January back to being its normal self again augurs well.

Debt To The Monkeys

If man ever reaches the stars, he will owe a considerable debt to the monkey.

Already, scientists have sent monkeys into space to try to determine whether men can survive there.

"Old Reliable," a 9-month-old squirrel monkey, soared to 290 miles in the nose cone of an Army Jupiter missile in November 1958. In comfortable retirement in the National Zoo at Washington is "Mike," a space pioneer who flew at a speed of nearly 2,000 miles an hour in 1952.

Monkeys are vital to space research because of their many similarities, physical and emotional, to man. Their reactions to the stresses of great speeds and weightlessness tell scientists how man's heart might be expected to react. Scientists also can gain an indication of how digestive problems and nervous tensions can be overcome by studying the monkeys.

Old Reliable was lost at sea, but his contribution remains in the form of records transmitted by radio from instruments attached to his body.

At present, the great single debt man owes the monkeys is their use in the making and testing of polio vaccine.

The virus from which the vaccine is produced flourishes in the kidney tissue of the Rhesus monkey from the plains of northern India. Thousands of Rhesus monkeys give their lives each year in order that children may live free of polio.

To ensure that the vaccine is properly prepared, it is tested on yet another monkey, a Philippine species that reacts to polio in exactly the same fashion as man.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — County Commissioner J. Howard Sinclair was re-elected president of the Columbiana County Motor Club.

Clyde Baker, former patrolman, councilman and president of council, served as acting mayor of Wellsville in the absence of Wallace L. Fogo, who was a patient in City Hospital.

More than 200 attended the 13th annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the Travelers Hotel.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The Rev. M. Rudolph Miller of Saltsburg, Pa., former Newell minister, was extended a call to become pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here.

More than 60 members of the Columbiana County Bar Association made reservations for their dinner at the Travelers Hotel.

TEN YEARS AGO — Parking problems were the main discussion at the meeting of the Wellsville Council.

Pvt. Donald H. Bennett Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Bennett of West Center Ln., was assigned to an ordinance detachment at Frankfort, Germany.

Odd Facts

There are six American countries, besides the United States, which have flags of red, white and blue. These are Chile, Costa Rica, Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Panama, and Paraguay.

The Navy's new aircraft carrier, USS Independence, will carry more than 100 jet-powered planes which will be able to fly the latest weapons to targets far beyond the reach of earlier carrier-based planes.

Winter Continues Over Eastern Half

tion of the state and 41 in the south. The normal low is 20-24. Cold weather will remain through Friday, with a warming trend due Saturday, the forecaster said. Snow is likely in Eastern Ohio Wednesday, with flurries at other times during the week, the forecaster said.

The district's main highways were comparatively clear until the new storm moved in this morning. The quickly-accumulating snow covered icy spots on highways and deepened the mounds of dry, powdered snow on city streets.

All county highways are open, but are snow covered and slippery, according to John Neill Jr., highway superintendent. County trucks are plowing and ashing and will continue until they get the roads cleared of drifts and snow, he said.

District roads were slippery and hazardous today the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported. Weekend traffic was at a minimum, officers said.

Roads in the area of the Wintersville State Highway Patrol near Steubenville are snow covered and slippery, officers said.

when he told about the old-fashioned winters of his youth, doubt no more.

Ohioans already have seen more snow than in many a winter; it fell Sunday night and more fell today. The weatherman said that more near-zero temperatures are approaching.

The State Highway Patrol warned that the snow, which is drifting in the northern half of the state, has made driving hazardous. The patrol's advice: "Unless absolutely necessary, stay home."

School children in a big portion of the state did just that. Some schools did not open in counties such as Marion, Wyandot, Crawford, Morrow, Lucas, Wood, Sandusky, Henry, Fulton, Toowaw, Williams and Defiance. All schools were closed in Allen, Mercer, Auglaize and Putnam counties.

In Toledo, two inches of snow were added to one inch already on the ground and high winds piled up drifts as high as 18 inches, with more snow expected. The patrol said snowplows were unable to keep up with the drifting snow.

In the Greater Cleveland area, 5 to 10 inches of snow covered the ground and it still was falling. The Weather Bureau predicted snow would diminish flurries by tonight. However, 20-degree temperatures will keep the snow from melting and result in more drifting.

Southern Ohio reported slightly better conditions. A wind from the south brought in a mixture of snow and rain as the thermometer hit above freezing marks. Cincinnati, which had a 37 reading at 7 a. m., expects the mercury to plunge to between 10 and 15 tonight as the northwest cold wave pushes into the area.

The Weather Bureau explained today's weather as a "sudden snow storm moving out of Indiana." The Hoosier State had cold wave warnings up with below zero readings expected tonight.

By Tuesday morning, temperatures are expected to hit the 8-12 range over northern Ohio and the 10-18 span over the south.

And, the weatherman warned, Tuesday will be even colder.

More Snow And Cold Plagues Eastern U.S.

By The Associated Press

More snow and cold plagued wide areas in the eastern half of the nation today.

The cold air extended across the Southland. It was freezing in northern Florida and temperatures were in the 40s in the extreme southern section.

Cold wave warnings were posted for wide areas in the mid-continent, hit by severe cold over the weekend. A fresh mass of arctic air from Canada spread southward across the Dakotas and Minnesota into northern parts of Iowa.

Temperatures were below zero again in Minnesota and the Dakotas.

The new onslaught of icy air was expected to cover most of the Midwest and Plains States by night.

It was clear and cold in the Atlantic Coast states. Below zero readings were reported in sections of the Northeast. Some warmer weather was indicated in the north and middle Atlantic states as well as in the Southeast.

The main area of wet weather covered by the storm extended from northern Missouri and eastern Iowa across northern Illinois and Indiana and northward into the upper Great Lakes.

Rain or a mixture of rain and snow fell near the southern borders of the wet belt. Blowing and drifting snow was reported to the north, with driving conditions reported hazardous in some areas. Falls ranged from one to two inches in a six-hour period during the night.

County Unit Aims Need Of Geriatric, Psychiatric Care

LISBON — The Executive Committee of the Columbiana County Mental Health Association has under study the establishment of psychiatric and geriatric facilities in county hospitals.

Probate Judge Louis Tobin has suggested that the association work on this problem, one that "cannot be met by avoidance." Geriatrics is the branch of medicine concerned with age and its diseases.

President Bryce Kendall, Salem, is to appoint a committee to study possibilities for constructing hospital auxiliary housing units for interim care of patients requiring both psychiatric and medical services. The step was suggested by Dr. Paul Beaver, Leetonia.

Dr. Beaver is the board's representative to enlist aid of the Columbiana County Medical Association in compiling a directory of mental health resources available in this area. The directory would include psychologists, psychiatrists, mental health agencies, hospitals and nursing homes.

The Mental Health Association hopes to have such a director available for reference in the near future, Kendall said.

City Has 3 Accidents Blamed On Icy Streets

No one was injured in four minor traffic accidents reported to police over the weekend. Three of the mishaps were blamed on slippery streets.

A collision Sunday at 2 p. m. at St. Clair Ave. and Cain St. involved a car driven by Keith Harmon of R. D. 2 and Carrie C. Williams.

Harmon told police his car skidded into the rear of the woman's auto when he stopped to enter a service station. Police had no report on the woman's address.

A crash at 4:30 p. m. yesterday at St. Clair Ave. and Park Blvd. involved three cars, an incomplete reported showed.

Dr. Roland D. Stover, 44, of 141 W. 6th St. told officers he was headed south and stopped for cars turning onto Park Blvd. when his car was struck in the rear by a car operated by Harold Figley and shoved into a third auto.

Police said they did not have Figley's address or the name and address of the third driver.

A minor collision at 11 a. m. Saturday on E. 6th St. near Crook Alley involved cars driven by Ralph O. Burson, 50, of 1536 Pennsylvania Ave. and Joe Sarbin, 302 W. 3rd St., police reported.

The crash occurred as Burson was pulling from a parking space and Sarbin was pulling from the left to right lane of traffic, police said.

A collision Friday afternoon at Anderson Blvd. and Orchard Grove Ave. was reported to police Saturday afternoon.

George K. Guy, 40, of 587 Blackmore St. was en route up the hill when a car driven by Atty. James L. McSweeney, 834 Main St., Wellsville, slid into him, police said.

Icy Pavement Blamed For Crash Injuring 2

Miss Patricia Will of 9 11th St. and Pete Farnan of 120 8th St., both Midland, were treated at Crucible's Emergency Hospital for injuries received in an auto accident Sunday at 11:38 p. m.

Miss Will was treated for a laceration of the left leg and contusions of the chest. Farnan received a lacerated forehead.

Both were involved in a one-car accident on west Midland Ave. just outside the borough line. Icy road conditions were blamed.

Brighton Woman Hurt In Crash On Route 168

Mrs. Louise Davis of New Brighton received treatment at the Crucible Emergency Hospital in Midland Sunday about 6:30 p. m. after her husband's car skidded off Route 168 near New Salem Church about six and a half miles north of Midland.

She was taken to the Beaver Valley General Hospital at New Brighton where three clamps were required for head injuries.

Jerome Davis, her husband, was headed toward Midland as another car driven by Howard Todd of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1 was approaching, pulling another car. Due to icy roads, Davis pulled over to have enough room to pass, then slipped off the road and hit a guard rail.

Michael Haydn, Ohio Township auxiliary policeman, said the accident was caused by the road's poor condition. There was about $300 damage to Davis car.

Elderly Woman Hurt In Palestine Mishap

EAST PALESTINE—Mrs. Bertie Bradley, 60, of 342 E. Taggart St. is in "fair" condition today at Salem City Hospital with neck and arm injuries suffered in a collision between her car and another Sunday—one of seven traffic mishaps reported by police over the weekend.

Mrs. Bradley was making a turn into the driveway at her home about 12:20 p. m. when she collided with an oncoming auto operated by Paul Veon, 44, of 197 W. North Ave. Mrs. Veon, a passenger, suffered knee injuries.

Mrs. Bradley's car was demolished and Veon's car received some $500 damage, officers said. Six other minor collisions were reported by police, who said no one was hurt.

Damage Set At $6,000 After New Garden Fire

Damage was estimated at $6,000 today in a blaze which destroyed a New Garden home early Sunday morning, forcing a 30-year-old father and his two sons into sub-zero cold.

Alvin Wheatley and his two sons, Gary, 10, and Rickey, 8, fled the flames, which broke out about 5:20 a. m. in the two-story frame home along Route 172, a short distance west of Route 9.

The mother, Mrs. Dorothy Wheatley, was working at Mary's Diner at Hanoverton.

Firemen from Hanoverton, Guilford and Winona said the blaze apparently started from an overheated coal furnace and defective chimney. The structure was owned by Mrs. Betty Mack of Salem.

Wheatley, a musician, had returned from playing at a tavern at Kensington about 1 a. m. The family has found living quarters over Hannah's Store near Guilford Lake.

Judge Brennan Waits Release From Hospital

WEIRTON — Hancock County Circuit Court Judge J. Harold Brennan was due to be released today from the Weirton General Hospital, where he had been a patient since last week with injuries suffered in an auto crash near his home on Seenic Dr.

The judge probably will resume his duties in Circuit Court in New Cumberland this week to set pre-trial conferences for 10 persons indicted by the January term of the Grand Jury. Six defendants entered not guilty pleas last week.

Weirton Man Recovers After Exposure To Cold

WEIRTON — A 29-year-old Weirton man who was almost frozen stiff after lying on a sidewalk for about five hours following a fall Sunday at 1 a. m. is in "fair" condition at the Weirton General Hospital today.

Albert Carter of 105 Ave. D was found by an unidentified passerby on his way to work at about 6:15 a. m. When admitted to the hospital, his body temperature was 94 degrees, hospital attendants said. Normal body temperature is 98.6 degrees. He will suffer no ill effects, his physicians said last night.

Blackbirds Do More Damage Than Borers

MADISON, Wis. — Entomologist E. L. Chambers surveyed damage done by European corn borers and found that blackbirds did more damage than the borers.

In some fields the birds and borers combined to do damage. Chambers said the blackbirds often clustered in such large groups they broke off the cornstalks weakened by the borers.

Youths Jailed For Car Theft

Midland Trio Nabbed In Rochester Auto

Three Midland youths, all 16, were turned over to Rochester police and federal agents after being arrested in East Liverpool Saturday night while driving a car stolen in Rochester.

Police Capt. R. H. Pyle said two of the boys admitted taking the car in Rochester and then picking up the third youth in Midland.

Pyle said he heard a broadcast on the stolen car and jotted down the license number. About 8 p. m., Midland police advised local authorities the car was believed headed toward East Liverpool.

A cruiser was sent to the state line and spotted the car but didn't halt the youths because the license number didn't correspond with the plate on the stolen car, the captain said.

Capt. Pyle and Patrolman Kenneth Mooney halted the car a few minutes later on Pennsylvania Ave., questioned the youths and radioed Midland for a registration check. The officers learned the boys had stopped in Midland, then took a license plate from another car and put the plate on the stolen car on the Midland auto.

Ohio's Traffic Kills Only One On Weekend

Traffic 1
Fire 2
Miscellaneous 0
Total 3

By The Associated Press
Ohio has come through the weekend with an uncommonly low accidental death toll, thanks, very likely, to the generally miserable weather.

Arctic temperatures and ice-coated roads apparently kept thousands of would-be travelers at home and the result was that not a single person died in a highway accident between 6 p. m. Friday and Midnight Sunday, the period covered in the Associated Press' accidental death survey.

In all, just three persons died accidentally in Ohio over the weekend, and only one is classified as a traffic death. One man toppled from a truck and fell under its wheels in an industrial plant driveway. The other two victims died in fires.

The fatalities:
Friday night:
None
Saturday:
Melvin Milam, 29, of Hartwell (Hamilton County), crushed when he tumbled from a truck and fell beneath its wheels in the driveway of an industrial plant at Cincinnati.
Robert I. Bias, about 36, died in a fire that destroyed his trailer home near Mansfield's city limits.
Andrew Shingleton, 73, East Liverpool, burned to death when he apparently fell on top of a heating stove in his room.

Without Opening Skull

Atomic Knife Aids Brain

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Working with an invisible "atomic knife" Swedish scientists have pioneered a brain operation which neither opened the skull nor shed a drop of blood.

The team of brain surgeons and nuclear scientists at the Gustav Werner Institute for Nuclear Chemistry at Uppsala University destroyed diseased tissue with an American-invented proton ray.

The operation was performed on a man at 55, the team disclosed in radio and television interviews. By destroying a piece of tissue three millimeters thick inside the patient's skull, he was cured painlessly of a serious mental depression.

The man left the hospital two days later. A similar operation carried out by orthodox lobotomy would have required weeks of preparation and a long period of recovery.

Prof. Lars Leksell of Lund University, who supervised the operation, expressed belief the new method can be applied to ease many chronic pains, for treatment of Parkinson's disease and for certain mental illnesses.

Proton rays, the positive charged unit of the atom nucleus, penetrated the patient's brain from 18 directions during the two-hour operation, said Prof. Bror Rexed of Uppsala, one of the six-man team.

The atomic knife was supplied by the synchrocyclotron, one of only two in the world suitable for this kind of operation. The other is at the University of California at Berkeley.

During the operation, the patient was alone in the operating room. To avoid risk of atomic radiation, Leksell and his assistants operated the ray from an adjoining room and watched the patient on a closed television circuit.

LA Picked For Convention By Democratic Committee

By The Associated Press
Los Angeles is the choice of the Democrats' site committee as the location for the party's 1960 national convention. It's still a toss-up where the Republicans will hold theirs.

Los Angeles won the committee's recommendation Sunday after putting up a $350,000 cash offer. Top offers also were made at the committee's New Orleans meeting by San Francisco, Miami Beach and Philadelphia. Chicago and New York also were in the running.

The recommendation by the site committee is subject to final action by the Democratic National Committee when it meets Feb. 27-28 in Washington. Approval usually is only a formality.

Los Angeles and the other five cities will compete today and Tuesday for the Republican convention. A GOP site committee started two days of meetings in Des Moines, Iowa, in advance of a session of the full GOP national committee there Friday.

Proposed site of the Democratic meeting is the huge Los Angeles Sports Arena scheduled for completion in May. The five-million-dollar structure will have a floor as long as the playing area of a football field and wider—300 feet long and 160 feet wide.

Los Angeles, a city of 2,400,000, has never had a major national political meeting. Californians were prompt in expressing pleasure.

Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, the state's new Democratic head, said "It's great. It's wonderful. We'll give them a fine convention. The Los Angeles convention will be the start to the election of a Democratic president."

More than 30 factors were taken into consideration in recommending Los Angeles, Democratic officials said. One of the most important was the air conditioned arena which will accommodate 17,000 persons. Space will be available for caucus rooms and press, radio and television facilities.

Farmers Asked To File For Conservation Work

Although icy weather gripped the area today, Hancock County Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation officials at New Cumberland reminded farmers in the county they should take advantage of the slack season to stop at the office and file for cost-share conservation practices planned for the spring.

Mrs. Norma Murray, office manager, said that farmers may receive subsidiary funds from the federal government for liming and fertilizer practices and also for contour stripping and building of watering troughs and ponds.

The deadline for the first allocation is Feb. 13, she said. Second allocation will be completed when authorities deem it advisable, she said.

4-H Leaders To Plan March Clothing Class

WEIRTON — Plans for a regional advanced clothing school in March will be outlined when 4-H leaders from Hancock and Brooke Counties meet Tuesday afternoon at 1:15 in the Weirton Community Center.

Miss Helen Petrakis, Hancock 4-H agent, said the school is planned for March 17. It is an annual event for 4-H members of the two counties. Miss Petrakis will preside at Tuesday's session.

Oliver Johnson, Hancock agricultural agent, will screen color slides of county conservation practices at a meeting of Weirton Girl Scout Troop 5 Tuesday at 4 p. m. in the Methodist Church.

County Board Returns Head

Budget Of $43,589 Scheduled In 1959

LISBON — Ben Weingart of Leetonia R. D. 1, president, and other officers were retained for new terms at the reorganization meeting of the County Board of Education Saturday night in the Court House.

Also retained were: Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, vice president, and Supt. James L. McBride, clerk. The other board members are Mrs. Elizabeth Strabley of Salineville, L. Olan Sanor of East Rochester and George Wilkinson of East Liverpool R. D. 2.

The board approved a budget of $43,589 for 1959, compared with the $36,961 spent in 1958. A total of $39,964 was appropriated for 1958, but the board ended the year with a balance of $3,003.

The board continued the third Tuesday of each month as the regular meeting night, except in February when it will move the session up to Feb. 10 because Supt. McBride will be attending a superintendents' convention on the regular meeting night.

The board joined the Ohio School Boards Association for the coming year and paid the $50 dues. It authorized the clerk and president to sign vouchers and paid $5 for a bond for the clerk. It also appointed Atty. Elliott a member of the County Agriculture Council for 1959.

The board discussed the new Southern Local District. It is expected to release the Hillcrest district that the State School Board ordered transferred to Wellsville School District at the February meeting. The transfer is expected to become final July 1.

Scientist Says Sharks Can Smell And Hear

SAN DIEGO — Sharks can smell and sharks can hear, says a scientist who observed them from a submarine cage.

Conrad Limbaugh of the University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography also reported that the so-called man eaters could be kept away by a repellent color or odor.

He said they hunt mostly by smell, by swimming up current. They responded to pounding on the metal side of the cage, by swimming to investigate it.

Oops, Sorry, Judge, Looked At Wrong Car

PIERRE, S. D. — Circuit Judge Harry Mundt asked the man who had pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated for his license number.

The man said he didn't remember but the car was just outside. He looked out the window and began reading off a number as Judge Mundt took it down.

Suddenly Judge Mundt reared back, stared at what he'd written and declared, "why, that's my number."

The man apologized and the judge said he was certain it was an honest mistake.

Election of officers highlighted the meeting of the Home Builders Class of the LaCroft Church of the Nazarene Friday night in the parsonage recreation room. They are:

Mrs. Clara Chapman, president, succeeding Mrs. Eileen Purinton; Reid Densmore, vice president; Mrs. June Ward, secretary; Mrs. Viola Densmore, assistant secretary; Mrs. Echo Gilkinson, re-elected treasurer, and Mrs. Ruth Bulmer, news reporter.

The meeting opened with devotions by Mrs. Mary Jo Garren, who read Ps. 23, and the group responded with the Lord's Prayer.

Business was conducted by Mrs. Purinton and the group decided to purchase three new sheets in the church nursery. Mrs. Garren volunteered to take care of the sheets for the next three months.

Pearl King and Densmore were appointed to buy and install kitchen cupboard doors.

Lunch was served 20 after the group counted tax stamps.

The lunch committee was comprised of Mrs. Eileen Oates, chairman, Mrs. Edna McCoy, Mrs. Jean Williams and Miss Dorothy McKinley.

The next meeting is Feb. 20 at the parsonage. The social committee will include Mrs. Garren, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Ruby Coleman and Mrs. Wanda Gilkinson. Mrs. Donna Miller and Mrs. Lyle will be in charge of the entertainment and Mrs. Bulmer the devotions.

The Karettes Club met Friday night at the home of Mrs. LaRue Aivalotis of Anderson Blvd. Two tables of 500 were in play.

Winners were Mrs. Marjorie Ludwig, Mrs. June Bourne and Mrs. Louise Fitzgerald, a guest. Lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Bourne.

The next meeting is Feb. 13 at the home of Mrs. Delores Newbold of Glenmoor.

Mrs. W. S. McCord, secretary, presided in the absence of Mrs. Bessie Clapsaddle, president, at the meeting of the E. A. Walker Bible Class of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church Friday night at the home of Mrs. Homer Morris of Garner Ave. Ten were present.

Mrs. Thomas Cunningham led devotions and the topic was "Deeds of Kindness." The Scripture reading was from Matt. 10. The period closed with a poem, "The World Needs You," by Mrs. Cunningham, and prayer.

Various games were played during the social hour and prizes were won by Mrs. McCord, Mrs. E. R. Tittle and Mrs. John Wolfe.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Tittle.

The next meeting will be Feb. 20 and the place will be announced.

Mrs. Sara McIntosh of Glenmoor entertained the 108 Club Friday night.

Canasta winners were Mrs. Evelyn Harley, Mrs. Pat Sloan and Mrs. Helen Christen. Mrs. Ann Hoobler was a guest.

The members presented the hostess with individual gifts.

Mrs. McIntosh was assisted in serving lunch by Mrs. Hoobler.

The next meeting will be Feb. 13 at the home of Mrs. Kay Auginbaugh of Maple Dr., Calcutta.

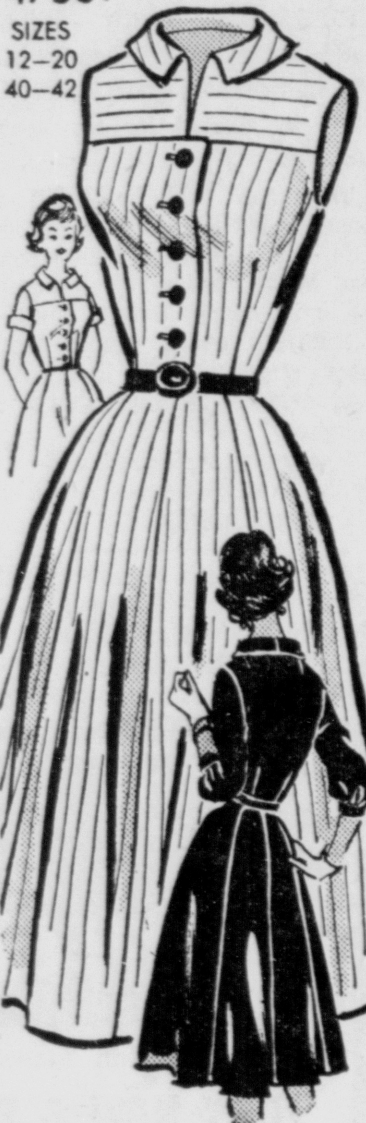

Ohio Temple 1, Ladies of the Golden Eagle, will meet Wednesday night in the Sons of Veterans Hall.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Helen Yost, Mrs. Ruth Lister and Mrs. Ruth Standley.

Mrs. Doris Calhoun of Dresden Ave. Ext. will entertain the UNI Club Wednesday night.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Readers: Recently, a man who signed himself E. George wrote: "Why defend the average American housewife, Ann Landers? She's a pig and you know it." This column hasn't provoked such violent responses since I suggested that Elvis Presley was a dancer—not a singer.

Hundreds of irate women, indignant husbands (and even children) wrote to give E. George a verbal pasting and to defend the honor of the Average American Housewife. Such spirited response rates a full day's column—and here it is.—ANN LANDERS.

From Evansville, Ind.
Dear Ann: It's a good thing you never print the names and addresses of people who write to you. That fellow who signed himself E. George would surely be found dead in his bed one morning. If I knew who he was I'd cheerfully strangle the bum myself—and I'll bet no jury would convict me.—AVERAGE A.H.

One Of Light Days

From Dallas, Texas
Dear Ann: I'd like to tell E. George what one "average American pig" did this morning. Got up at 6:30 a.m. Made a whopping big breakfast for a husband, four piglets and a sow (my mother-in-law lives with us). Packed a lunch for "Porky" (my husband) and set dough for four loaves of bread.

By 10:30 the sty was in order and I ironed yesterday's laundry until noon when I stopped to make lunch for anyone from four to eight kids as each one usually brings a friend. By 2:30 the lunch dishes were cleaned up, a cake was in the oven for a church bazaar, also an apple pie for the family.

Went grocery shopping for the week, spent 40 minutes on the phone for the PTA (I'm president), prepared the swirl for dinner, sewed together daughter's dancing costume and ran next door to help give a sick child medicine (Mother can't handle him.)

This was one of my "light" days but even at that, George, I didn't have much time to wallow around in the mud.

I'm not looking for any medals. Millions of American women do as much, and more. So, as Ann Landers says "Put your nose back in joint, Buster." — THE POLAND CHINA.

From Manitowoc, Wis.

Dear Ann: If the average American housewife is a PIG, it's because the average American male is a BOAR. — INFORMED.

From Mexico, Missouri

Dear Ann: I am 10 years old and in the fifth grade. My mother is not a pig. She is a very neat person.—ALLEN.

Wonderful Wife

From Chicago
Dear Ann: I never wrote to a paper before, but no jerk is going to call MY wife a pig and get away with it. She's a wonderful wife and mother and I have yet to pay a laundry bill or eat a frozen pie in the 15 years we've been married.—BURNED UP.

From Memphis

Dear Ann: Did E. George say PIG? Well, it takes one to know one.—OINK OINK.

From Los Angeles

Dear Ann: If E. George's wife is staying in bed until 11 a.m. every morning it's probably because she doesn't want to look at his ugly kisser a minute longer than is necessary. A bed can be a place to HIDE as well as rest.—A.A.H.

From Winnipeg, Canada

Dear Ann: I'm from Canada but I'm mad at E. George anyway. We have nuts like that here, too.—MRS. E.J.K.

From Tulsa, Okla.

Dear Ann: E. George exposed himself. Only a pig would marry him.—MRS. F.P.

From Stamford, Conn.

Dear Ann: E. George is out of his mind. I've been married 20 years and haven't had a plumber in the basement yet. My husband bought me a plunger and that's it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Former City Man Takes Higher Post At Michigan State

A former East Liverpool resident officially assumed duties today as new vice president of Michigan State University at East Lansing.

He is Paul A. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Miller of 3rd St. Ext., Chester, and brother of Bernice Miller of Wyoming Ave., Glenmoor.

The new vice president received his master's and doctor's degrees from the university and was graduated in 1939 from the University of West Virginia at Morgantown with a degree in animal husbandry.

An Air Force veteran, he also has served as co-operative extension service director for the state of Michigan. Born in East End, Miller attended the Horace Mann school for seven years and was graduated in 1935 from Wells High School at Newell. He also spent a year at Bethany College.

The new official is married to the former Catherine Spiker of Harris County, W. Va., and has a son and daughter. He resides with his family at 1008 Hunting Rd., East Lansing.

Steam locomotives are hardly used in the United States anymore, reports the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. A recent survey showed only 1,737 steam units in service as compared to 27,590 diesel units.

3 Injured In Mishap Remain 'Fairly Good'

Three young people injured Thursday when their car smashed into a bridge abutment near Ohioville remain in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital.

James Peterson, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Peterson of Bloomfield, suffered a back injury in the mishap. Shirley Wolfe, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wolfe of Midland, was the driver. She received a fractured ankle. Curtis Shanks, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Shanks of 10th St., Wellsville, received a head injury.

Philanthropist Dies

ST. CHARLES, Ill. (AP) — Col. Edward J. Baker, 90, philanthropist and sportsman owner of Greyhound, the famous trotter, died Saturday. Baker acquired the 38-million-dollar fortune of his brother-in-law, John W. (Bet a Million) Gates, Chicago financial tycoon, in 1918 after the death of Gates' wife.

FEPC Votes New Budget And Model Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Committee for Fair Employment Practices Legislation has $25,000 to spend in campaigning during the current session of the Legislature and a model bill which it hopes the 103rd General Assembly will copy.

More than 500 delegates from 39 communities approved the budget Sunday and unanimously endorsed the model bill which forbids discrimination in hiring and sets up a civil rights commission.

The bill calls for equality of opportunity in employment and forbids discriminatory practices based on race, color, religious creed, national origin or ancestry by private employers, employment agencies, government agencies and labor unions.

The bill creates a five-member Ohio Civil Rights Commission empowered to enforce its orders by contempt proceedings.

Exempt from the act are concerns employing four or fewer employees.

Appearing before the one-day conference were State Sen. Frank W. King (D-Lucas), Senate majority leader, and State Rep. James A. Lantz (D - Fairfield), house speaker.

In other business Theodore M. Berry of Cincinnati was reelected FEPC chairman.

Budget Views Follow Usual Party Pattern

Most Of Democrats Critical, While GOP Hails Spending Cut

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional reaction to President Eisenhower's 77-billion-dollar budget presented today generally followed the usual party pattern.

Most Democrats were doubtful or critical. Republicans hailed the effort to hold down spending.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) said "I hope we can balance the budget but I don't see much chance for it under the President's proposals."

He said also that Congress is not likely to grant Eisenhower's request for authority to veto or to reduce individual items in authorization and appropriation bills.

House minority Leader Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.) said the budget, as it stands, will provide for a strong defense, for progress in meeting human needs, and for a prosperous and expanding economy.

The Senate's assistant Republican leader, Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California, said the budget lays down a splendid formula for defense. But he said he does not agree with the President that there can be a breathing spell in asking new public works projects.

Rep. Clarence E. Cannon (D-Mo.), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said "this is a political budget based on contingencies which no one expects to materialize."

Rep. John Taber (R-N.Y.), ranking Republican on the Appropriations Committee, said he would try to keep the appropriations within the budget.

Rep. George Mahon (D-Tex.), chairman of the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee, said he feels "that in the interest of reduced spending, a laudable aim, the defense budget may have been shaved too close in the light of the sustained challenge of the U.S.S.R."

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) called the budget unrealistic because, he said, it is hard to believe Congress will increase gasoline taxes or postage rates.

Taft-Hartley Changes Pressed By ITU's Head

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The head of the International Typographical Union has criticized proposals by the AFL-CIO Executive Council to modify the Taft-Hartley Act only slightly.

Elmer Brown, ITU head, said Sunday he had written AFL-CIO President George Meany urging an early special session of the general council to discuss "a broad general overhauling of the Taft-Hartley Act during the current session of congress."

Brown said his union had been forced to spend over 30 million dollars "to save itself from destruction under the law."

He said he wrote Meany after learning the AFL-CIO plans to ask "only minimal amendments" to the law, including the Kennedy-Ives bill and repeal of the section permitting states to enact right-to-work laws.

Chester Fire Damages Motor Of Meat Cooler

A motor of a basement meat cooler at the Conklin IGA Store at Carolina Ave. and 2nd St., Chester, was burned out this morning shortly before 9, causing smoke throughout the store.

Russ Davis of Carolina Ave., operator of the store, called firemen when he and customers noticed the smoke. He then investigated, found the source of the smoke and disconnected the motor. Davis telephoned firemen again to advise them not to come, but the volunteers already were on the way.

Apple-Cranberry Salad Features Left-Overs

Making leftovers tasty and appealing is the aim of every economy-minded homemaker. By using a little imagination, flavored gelatin and fresh apples, that roast chicken or turkey that did major duty can turn up again and again in tasty, main dish salads that call for more.

Such a salad is Apple-Cranberry Circle, a taste-tempting eye-appealing delight.

Apple-Cranberry Circle

2 pkgs. lime-flavored gelatin

2 cups hot water
1 1/2 cups cold water
3 tbsps wine vinegar
1/4 tsp. salt
Dash of cayenne pepper
Thin slices unpeeled apple
2 cups diced, unpeeled apple
10 half-slices cranberry jelly
1 1/2 cups diced turkey
6-8 turkey slices
Dissolve gelatin thoroughly in hot water. Add cold water and wine-vinegar, season with salt and cayenne. Overlap apple slices in bottom of 5 cup ring mold.

Add gelatin to cover then refrigerate until set. Add diced apple and arrange cranberry jelly against side of mold. Next add diced turkey and arrange turkey slices around side of mold. Pour in remaining syrupy gelatin and chill until firm.

Unmold on crisp salad greens and fill mold center with mayonnaise, softened with cream. Serves eight.

2 Die, 3 Hurt In Car Wreck

Auto Runs Wild And Skids Into Truck

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Two women were killed and three others injured in an automobile crash on Ohio 69 north of New Carlisle today.

Dead are Mrs. Irene Mae Bodey, 60, and Hazel Apple Degett, 61, both of Rt. 1, St. Paris (Champaign County).

Injured are Mrs. Barbara Runkle, 24, and Veronica Gardner, 33, both of Rt. 2, St. Paris, and Lois Perk, 35, of St. Paris.

All five were in one car, enroute to work at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton. It went out of control and skidded into a bread truck.

Lisbon Area Motorist Given Fine, Jail Term

LISBON — Two motorists were fined a total of $125 and costs Saturday night by County Judge James L. MacDonald for traffic violations.

Dixon Danver of Lisbon R. D. 3 was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in county jail for driving while intoxicated. Judge MacDonald suspended 20 days of the sentence providing he doesn't drive while intoxicated again.

Russell Albright of Leetonia R. D. 1 was fined $25 and costs for driving an overlength vehicle.

Tragedy Strikes Again For Cleveland Family

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tragedy has struck the William Woodrum family for the second time in two years.

Nine-month-old Terry Lee Woodrum was found strangled to death in his crib Sunday. Mrs. Woodrum said she found the child with his head wedged between the mattress and sideboard in the family's apartment here.

In October, 1957, the family was burned out of their home. No one was injured, but the family lost all their possessions. The Woodrums have four other children.

Wellsville Man Cited After Irondale Crash

A Wellsville motorist was cited for driving left of center following a near head-on collision Saturday at 1:55 p. m. on a county road a few hundred feet from Irondale.

Considerable damage resulted to cars driven by Milton Spann Jr., 23, of 1529 Main St., Wellsville, and Joseph J. Oleski, 40, of Irondale, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol. Spann is to appear before Judge Helen Hunstman of Toronto.

2 Motorists Fined $10 After Chester Mishaps

Two motorists charged with failure to have their cars under control were fined $10 and costs by Mayor Burton Ward of Chester Saturday.

Jack Sevey of Phoenix Ave., Chester, was cited Jan. 9 on Carolina Ave. after his auto struck a utility pole at 9th St. Hugh D. Halley of New Cumberland R. D. 1 was arrested Jan. 10 after his auto hit a parked car on Fairview Rd.

Trailer Tax Listed

LISBON — Tax collections on house trailers in Columbiana County in 1958 totaled $10,891, State Auditor James Rhodes announced today at Columbus. Tax collections on trailers throughout Ohio amounted to $705,987, an all-time record despite a sharp decline in the number of trailers in many counties.

Makes Appeal To Negroes

Alabama Governor Warns Schools Could Be Closed

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — John Patterson, sworn in as governor today, warned Alabama Negroes that continued pressure for integration will mean the closing of their schools.

He promised to use every power to keep the schools segregated, and appealed to Negroes to turn against "the agitators of your own race whose aim is to destroy our school system."

"If you do not do so, and these agitators continue at their present pace," Patterson admonished in a prepared inaugural address, "in a short time you will have no public school system at all."

And if the schools are closed, Patterson added pessimistically, they may never be reopened "in your lifetime and mine. Our children will suffer the consequences."

"Our race problems will never be solved by court decrees, injunctions and federal troops," the 37-year-old incoming governor continued. "They will be solved only through mutual understanding and good will between the races without outside interference and agitation."

Patterson took the oath of office in the climax of an inaugural pageant from which Negro high school and college bands were barred on Patterson's orders.

Patterson advocated passage of a law to close any school "where military or other forces are employed by the federal government to police their operations."

He also recommended legislation to cut off all public funds to any school where the segregation bars are lowered.

Patterson is the youngest governor in Alabama history. He is the son of the crusading crime fighter, Albert L. Patterson, whose murder 4 1/2 years ago touched off a massive vice cleanup in Phenix City.

Railroad Crew Pushes Cleanup At Kensington

Pennsylvania Railroad Co. work crews today continued repairing tracks at Kensington, where 31 cars of a freight train derailed Friday morning, causing an estimated $250,000 damage.

One track was opened for traffic about 11 hours after the mishap, but the other track will not be ready for use until Tuesday.

Cause of the accident has not been determined, but a spokesman at the Alliance office said an investigation is continuing. E. C. Campeau, 70, of Maple Heights was engineer. Cars which derailed were loaded with coffee, oil and loose cement.

Batista's Wife In U.S.

To Gather Up Children

NEW YORK (AP) — The wife of ousted Cuban dictator Fulgencio Batista is here on the first leg of a trip to gather four of their children in this country and take them to their father.

Mrs. Marta Batista arrived by plane Sunday night from the Dominican Republic, where her husband took refuge.

Mrs. Batista was accompanied by Lawrence Berenson, Batista's attorney here. She went to the Waldorf Towers to meet two sons, Roberto, 11, and Carlos, 8, who have been staying there since Christmas—shortly before Batista fled Cuba.

Berenson said Mrs. Batista will leave soon with the boys for Daytona Beach, Fla., where two other children, Fulgencio, 4, and Marta Maria, 17 months, are staying with Mrs. Batista's mother.

Cumberland Chief Selected To Head Hancock Firemen

Chief Elmer Bailey of New Cumberland was elected president of the Hancock County Firemen's Association to succeed Raymond Gibbs of Chester at a meeting Saturday night in the county seat.

Others elected include: J. C. Durham of Newell, first vice president; John Grimes of Lawrenceville, second vice president, and William Prosser of Weirton Heights, secretary-treasurer. Ed Norvell of Station No. 2 in Weirton was elected trustee for a one-year term.

Before retiring from office, Gibbs named a three-member committee to investigate possibilities of establishing a two-way radio circuit in the county to aid in fighting major fires.

Chosen were John Stankiewicz and Norvell of Weirton and Clarence Lemmens of Chester. Plans were discussed for a fire school to be held in the spring. The next meeting will be in Weirton Heights, with the date to be announced later by the host fire company.

Walkout Ends At Harvester

37,000 Employees Resume Their Jobs

CHICAGO (AP)—Most International Harvester Co. plants resume operations today, marking the end of a 67-day strike by some 37,000 United Auto Workers against the big farm implement firm.

The union's rank and file members ratified a new three-year contract over the weekend, formally ending the long and costly strike. Seymour Kahan, international representative of the UAW's Harvester department, said the voting by members of 33 union locals showed about 90 per cent favored acceptance of the contract.

The contract agreement was first reached last Wednesday by negotiators for the company and union. On Friday the UAW Harvester Council, delegates from 33 locals at 15 Harvester plants and 10 depots and warehouses, approved the proposed contract. Union leaders at that time said rank and file members would approve the pact.

Thirty UAW locals voted to accept the new pact and three rejected it. The 700 workers at the Rock Island, Ill., plant remained on strike. The 600 members of the East Moline, Ill., local rejected the pact but agreed to return to work if it was approved by a majority of members. In Louisville, Ky., one local representing 700 workers turned down the contract while a second, with 21,100 members, accepted.

The strike, which started Nov. 13, resulted in losses in wages estimated by company officials at 2 1/2 million dollars a week. UAW officials said about one million dollars a week was paid by the union in strike benefits.

Four of the 15 harvester plants are in the Chicago area and four in other Illinois cities. Others are located in Memphis, Louisville, Fort Wayne, and Indianapolis, Springfield, Ohio, and Stockton and Emeryville, Calif.

The new three-year contract calls for annual pay increases of 6 cents an hour or 2 1/2 per cent, whichever is greater. The average wage under the old contract was $2.55 an hour. New fringe benefits include a fourth week of vacation for workers with 25 years or more of service.

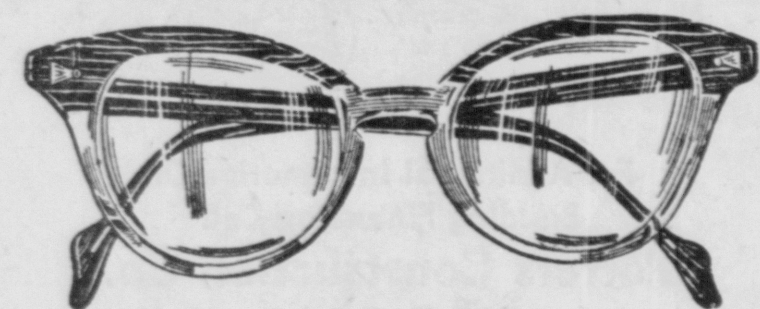

Harvester insisted upon, and obtained, under the new contract a provision providing for a summer vacation shutdown for inventory purposes and a freeze of night premium pay.

Dartmouth College in New Hampshire was founded in 1769 for "spreading Christian knowledge among the savages of our American wilderness."

Golden Star Adds New Equipment

Milk 'Off' Flavor Erased

A cow will eat anything that grows! That's her greatest fault so far as dairies are concerned, because she hasn't learned that her milk becomes "flavor-tainted" when she munches on onions, walnut husks and the like.

Nor does she realize that her milk can "flavor-taint" all the other milk in the big vats at the dairy plant. But with people it's different. They can taste "pasture flavors" in milk, even smell them on occasion, although few understand the cause.

To meet the challenge, the Golden Star Dairy's plant on W. 8th St. has taken another step in its modernization program with the installation of an Aro-Vac chamber which eliminates the "off" flavors.

The process, which dairy officials say represents an outlay of $10,000, consists of a giant vacuum cylinder — shown at the left above with other Golden Star equipment — through which farm-fresh milk is passed and in which high-pressure jet action literally "floats off" all volatile vapors.

Golden Star officials said the process, under test for several weeks, "does not destroy or alter any of the natural food properties of the milk in any way."

Peebles Girl Reigns As Cherry Pie Champ

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Seventeen-year-old Carolyn Shoemaker of Peebles reigned today as the 1959 Ohio cherry pie baking champion.

Miss Shoemaker, one of a family of 10 children, outbaked 13 other contestants to win the crown over the weekend. She will participate in the National Cherry Pie Contest next month in Chicago.

Ruth Ann Lusetti of Newark won second place in the Ohio contest.

James Ross, Wellsville grand knight, and Jack Stewart were in charge of music. Fr. William Lawler of Wellsville offered prayer. The third degree will be given in April.

James McGowan of East Liverpool, district deputy, headed the committee in charge of arrangements. Frank R. O'Hanlon of East Liverpool, faithful navigator of the Cardinal Mercier Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Wednesday night at 8.

At a business session following the ceremonies, the state scholarship program was discussed. March 8 was set as the tentative date for a district corporate communion breakfast.

McGowan presided. Wellsville council will meet Tuesday night at 8.

Cardinal Mercier Unit Will Make Dinner Plans

Plans for a Lincoln-Washington Birthday dinner will be outlined at a meeting of Cardinal Mercier Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Wednesday night at 8.

at the East Liverpool K. of C. Hall.

The dinner will be Feb. 22 at 6 p. m. at St. Aloysius Parochial School auditorium.

Wednesday night's meeting also will feature the renewal of obligations by officers and members, with John Johnston of East Liverpool, Eastern Ohio district master, in charge. The group also will plan for participation in a fourth degree initiation for the Eastern Ohio District which will be held Sunday, April 26, at the Pick Ohio Hotel in Youngstown.

5 Trustees Picked At Trinity Church

Five were elected to the Board of Trustees of the Trinity Presbyterian Church at the annual congregational meeting Sunday following the 11 a. m. worship.

Elected for three-year terms were Willen N. Baumgarner, Joseph M. Blazer, Reed W. Campbell and Leland C. Pittenger. Alex Kidd was elected for a two-year term.

The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Robert E. Weaver, secretary of the board, who also was in charge of the reading of the call. Eugene W. Hall, president of the Board of Trustees, presided.

Test Results Awaited

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners are awaiting official certification of the results of the tests conducted by the Ohio Civil Service Commission in December for the post of county dog warden, according to Dan Butch, clerk of the county board. Jack Clunk of Columbiana, former assistant county dog warden, said the commission advised him Friday he had attained the highest grade. The exam was held at the Courthouse.

Extensive Testing Continues In Radioactive Fallout Study

CINCINNATI (AP)—If your wife peels the potatoes and washes the lettuce, she is also getting rid of radioactivity.

That's one of the tidbits of knowledge turned up by government scientists studying radioactive fallout here.

They are turning their meters, microscopes and electronic devices on just about everything they can test.

They want to know what traces of Strontium 90—long living atomic villain—are turning up in your food, air and water.

The work is continuing at the Taft Sanitary Engineering Center, a U. S. Public Health Service research plant.

One laboratory is buried deep in one of Cincinnati's seven hills. You have to wear oilskin boots to enter this always-locked chamber. You might track in fallout from the streets.

Strontium 90, which stays radioactive and dangerous for long periods of time, is spewed into the atmosphere by nuclear device testing.

With another atomic by-product, Cesium 137, it falls over wide areas far from the blast.

On those potatoes, the scientists found that they, like carrots and beets, collect little of this radioactivity because they grow underground. And peeling cuts radioactivity to near zero.

But lettuce and spinach, growing above ground, pick up fallout in dust and rain. Washing eliminates much of the hot particles, but not all.

Air tests show radioactivity has fallen off here in the past six months, possibly due to less nuclear testing.

Dr. C. P. Straub, who heads the radiological study team, said the high point in air radioactivity here was 68 micro-microcuries one time last year.

But a national group on radiation hazards has figured that 1,000 is probably the top safe level.

Waste in wood manufacturing has been cut to a large extent by using thinner saws. There is less useless sawdust.

Graham To Take Rest In Hawaii For 3 Weeks

HONOLULU (AP)—Told by Mayo Clinic doctors to take a rest evangelist Billy Graham plans three weeks of sleeping, eating, fishing and golf in Hawaii.

Graham and his wife arrived by plane Sunday night from San Francisco. They plan to leave Feb. 8 for Australia where he is scheduled to open a religious crusade Feb. 15.

Graham underwent examination in Rochester, Minn., last week for a nervous disorder stemming from overwork.

Small Users Of Steel

Auto Parts Firms Lead Inventories

CLEVELAND (AP)—Suppliers of automobile parts are leading the parade of small users of steel in accumulating inventories, Steel Magazine reported today.

The metalworking weekly said the parts manufacturers have decided it is safe to stock up now that the automobile makers have given them firm orders through June.

"The special steels they need are getting harder to obtain," the magazine added. "Delivery promises for pickled strip and shim stock average five weeks in the Detroit area and the market is tightening."

The publication said that most steel consumers will begin building inventories in the next few weeks and added that the major consumers are asking more questions about deliveries.

"They're concerned with immediate problems—getting assurances that the steel they've ordered will reach them when it's needed," Steel said.

"Automakers aren't expected to step up buying until the end of the first quarter."

The magazine predicted that consumers will add four million tons to their steel stockpiles before July as strike fears mount. The contract between the steel producers and the United Steelworkers expires this summer.

Steel mills operated at 74.5 per cent of rated capacity last week, unchanged from the previous week. Output was estimated at 2,109,000 net tons.

Mills in the Cleveland district operated at 86 per cent of capacity, a gain of five points. Other districts included: Pittsburgh, 76 per cent, up 1 point; Youngstown, 64 per cent, down 1 point; Detroit, 95 per cent, no change; Cincinnati, 87 per cent, up 5 points, and Wheeling, 84 per cent, no change.

Steel's price composite on steel-making scrap advanced 66 cents last week to $40.33 a gross ton, the highest since last November.

Accessability Of Major Value In Good Heating Installation

CHICAGO — Accessability is one of the important characteristics of a good heating installation.

This particularly true of the boiler-burner unit. Servicing of the boiler and the burner as well as the accessories can be done much more conveniently if there is plenty of room for a man to get at the equipment.

The boiler should be cleaned at least once a year and the oil burner should be checked annually. In addition to the annual check, the burner should be oiled twice a year or more often if needed. The circulating pump, too, should be oiled at least twice a year.

If there is plenty of room, the service man will have no difficulty in taking care of these jobs in a short time. On the other hand, if the boiler is too close to a wall or to the incinerator, water heater, or other appliance, the task becomes much more difficult.

Accessability of the equipment is one of the characteristics of installations made by experienced heating and piping contractors.

It pays to leave installation and servicing of heating equipment to heating contractors who employ qualified personnel, the Plumbing — Heating — Cooling Information Bureau says.

Heating equipment is purchased for a lifetime of service. It is for this reason that the bureau advises buyers to select their heating contractor on the basis of his reputation and experience, not his price.

Held In Robbery

CINCINNATI (AP)—Eddie Burgin, onetime ranking featherweight boxing contender, surrendered Sunday to police for questioning in a robbery. Officers said a food store operator identified Burgin as the man who slugged and robbed him of $150 Monday.

No charge was filed immediately against Burgin who said he was in a theater at the time of the robbery.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN
Lean Budget Challenges Dieters

Food is expensive—expensive too! Prudently, the high cost of food makes it tougher for the overweight who must eat less food. One of the unhappy facts of life is that the so-called low cost items usually furnish a plethora of calories.

As one reader pointed out, it takes will and skill to cut calories and costs. But she added, "There must be some way to wrest a slimmer figure from budget fare and I propose to find it."

That's the winning spirit. Dieting is easier when a complete protein is included at each of the three meals. Yes, but protein is the expensive item of the meal. It costs more to feed the animals the grain that turns into prime ribs, or even hamburger.

HOWEVER, the lower grade cuts of meat furnish as good protein as the prime cuts and for fewer calories. Prime grade meat is not only higher in cost but also higher in calories because of the fat content.

Dieters, watch for the weekly specials and choose the lean and less costly cuts, and cook these economy cuts slowly, with a moist heat. Bake or braise and trim all the fat from your portion. The fat boosts the calories.

Grain contributes protein, and although the protein in grain is incomplete, which means it does not furnish all the essential amino acids, grain is an excellent "extender." For example, in making meat loaf, to a pound and a half of lean meat add three-fourths cup of uncooked rolled oats, plus eggs, onion, tomato juice and seasoning. It's delicious and goes farther.

The calorie bargains are in the protective foods. In other words, know what you are getting for your money, costwise and calorie-wise. Fish—fresh, frozen or canned—provides excellent quality protein and is made to order for low cost, low calorie fare. Other good buys are cottage cheese, dry skim milk powder, eggs and soy beans. These foods all furnish complete protein.

Let's plan some budget dinners: Frozen fish, such as perch fillets (no waste), baked with lemon butter (½ tsp. margarine and lemon juice), broiled; a small baked potato, a half pat of margarine, stewed tomatoes and cole slaw. The slaw dressing can be vinegar, seasonings and sugar. For dessert, fruit.

OR A SPAGHETTI meal. Start with hot bouillon. Have two-thirds cup cooked spaghetti with tomato sauce and two generous meat balls, and top with a tablespoon of grated cheese. Skip the French bread. Include a bulky green salad with vinegar and seasoning and top off with fruit or a pudding made with skim milk.

Slimming down on low cost family fare will give you a real feeling of accomplishment. It's a wonderful feeling to have!

Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Meat Workers Strike

CINCINNATI (AP)—Picket lines are slated to go up today at 17 independent meat packing plants in Greater Cincinnati in a strike by the Butchers and Meat Cutters Union over wages. A union spokesman said Sunday about 160 cutters, butchers and cooler men voted Monday to strike over their request for a 15-cent-hourly wage increase. The firms offered eight cents, he said.

If You Need More Space, Try 'Built-In'

Space-Saver Will Be Doubly Useful In Small Dining Area

PORTLAND, Ore. — Necessity is the mother of invention. Everyone has become acquainted with the truth of this adage at one time or another, but perhaps it is today's home owner who claims best knowledge of it.

Why? The modern abode with its fewer rooms and tighter spaces has necessitated a lot of innovations in home styling and decor. Furniture comes with cleaner, less cumbersome lines; color schemes revolve around an enlarging, monochromatic basis.

Best of all, however, is the advent of the built-in, that useful space-saver which has replaced many pieces of standard furniture. Especially in today's small, often cramped, dining areas is the built-in welcomed as the cure-all to storage problems, for deft engineering and skillful carpentry can create cupboard space where no piece of furniture could possibly fit.

A popular ruse is to conceal an enormous buffet unit within one wall of the dining area. In this type of construction, all shelving and drawers are hidden behind spring-latch doors, and walls and doors are of wood paneling, usually a handsome, easily worked softwood like west coast hemlock or Douglas fir, and the panels are vertically installed so that door joints are not at all visible.

For families which need less storage area, a favorite is to expose the built-in unit by fashioning it after a sideboard. This plan has the advantage of providing a counter top for serving, as well as cupboard and drawer space.

Probably the best arrangement calls for drawers to be placed side by side directly under the counter. These will be used for silver flatware and table linens. Cupboards are located below the drawers for china and large serving pieces.

An uncluttered appearance is important in making the dining room seem larger, so drawer and cupboard door fronts are usually of edge-glued pieces for sleek effect. Spring latches replace door pulls and drawers are designed with a hand-hold underneath the drawer rather than pulls.

Built-ins are pleasing not only for their tremendous saving in space, but also for their decorative properties. When beautiful woods like west coast hemlock and Douglas fir are used, the built-in becomes a truly outstanding addition to the room.

Best results in bringing out the handsome graining and rich coloring of these woods are obtained through finishing them with a coat of sealer topped by clear lacquer or a wax finish.

Dead wall space above the built-in sideboard can be put to work with airy, open shelves hung on wall brackets for madam's show-off pieces of crystal and china.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I fold laundered curtains and put away in a drawer, so that the creases will not be so prominent when they are hung again?

A. Fold them so that the top and bottom are together. If folded this way, the creases will work out when hung, but if folded lengthwise, there will be no weight to bring out the creases.

Q. How can I drain spinach after it is cooked?

A. Spinach should be well drained. Put it in a strainer and press with a spoon until the water is pressed out. Add seasonings and butter and serve in a heated vegetable dish.

Q. How can I overcome brittle fingernails?

A. Rub the nails with olive oil every night before retiring. Wear an old pair of gloves to protect the bed clothing.

WHEN DECORATING a small dining room, the open area theme and built-in storage units immediately come to mind. This built-in sideboard features door and drawer fronts of edge-glued west coast hemlock which has been finished with clear lacquer to capture the wood's sophisticated champagne coloring and handsome grain pattern. Low divider wall separating dining area from kitchen was also designed in hemlock and topped with sliding doors to form a pass-through.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Children Need Reasonable Discipline

You have often read and heard that to punish a tot to keep him from running into the street may restrain him only while the threat of punishment is present. For example, in the recent booklet on "Discipline," published by the Association for Childhood Education, Inc., D. Keith Osborne writes: "Under the strict authoritarian situation you 'whale the daylight' out of the child if he ventures into the street. Soon he learns not to go into the street. Why? Because of the fear of spanking, not because of the inherent dangers of playing in the street."

This learning works when the authority is present; but when the authority leaves (and the fear of punishment is removed) the child may dart into the street.

LET'S LOOK at the foregoing statement on spanking. It implies that the tot should be kept out of the street solely by showing him the dangers there. But, for his safety, he needs to keep out of the street long before he can really understand the reason why.

From numerous notes on how our own children, when toddlers, learned to stay out of the street, even when their playmates didn't, it is crystal clear that the authority did not have to be always present. The parent was right there, for a period of several days, until the safety habit was established, to make sure the youngster never stepped into the street unaccompanied without getting instant pain.

THE SAME PLAN was applied effectively in teaching each child to avoid automatically a few other specific dangers indoors. For example, the youngest, at three, after just three swats at different times, learned to avoid the telephone within his reach and never touched it again, so far as we know, whether we were there or not.

I have checked on scores of other tots trained in safety in these ways, and these learners got a total of very little punishment. If you always had to be present to make sure your little child avoided what he had been spanked for doing, all spanking would be barbarous and futile.

The secret is not fear. It is the connection in the child's brain of discomfort with the forbidden act so certainly and consistently as to cause him to avoid it automatically. This is the basis for the first steps in safety training.

Man Dies, Wife Critical After Freezing In Car

ARCADIA, Wis. (AP)—A young mother who spent seven hours with her husband in a wrecked automobile during subzero cold, faced possible amputation of her limbs today. Her husband died Sunday night, several hours after they were taken to a hospital with their arms and legs frozen solid.

Mrs. Barbara Kupietz, 20, mother of two small children, was reported in extremely critical condition.

Dr. Bernard Dockendorff said her arms and legs probably will have to be amputated. Her husband, La Vern, 26, a bakery employe, suffered internal injuries in addition to frozen limbs. The couple was trapped in their automobile late Saturday after it careened off a western Wisconsin highway and plunged into a deep ditch, hidden from passing motorists. The temperature was 15 degrees below zero.

The persistent barking of a dog led a farmer to investigate. He summoned help.

Ex-Congressman To Defend Woman In Mikoyan Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—A former Wisconsin congressman wants to defend the chubby 19-year-old Hungarian woman who heaved a rock that missed First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan when the Soviet's No. 2 man visited here Jan. 7.

Charles J. Kersten, a 56-year-old Republican attorney who was an ardent supporter of the late U. S. Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin, told the Cleveland Plain Dealer Sunday night his offer of counsel has been accepted.

Mrs. Emma Halhai, the Hungarian freedom fighter who was arrested during a demonstration at Public Square, is charged with disorderly conduct. Her case comes up Friday in Municipal Court.

A three-term congressman between 1947 and his defeat in 1954, Kersten said he had investigated conditions in Hungary. Mrs. Halhai fled from Budapest during the Hungarian uprising there in 1956.

First important gold discovery in Colorado was made in Central City in 1859. Population today is 706.

How To Put In Ceiling Tile

By ANDREW C. LANG

Put Together a steady ladder, a stapler, a couple of boxes of tiles and a weekend—and you can have a new ceiling in the attic, the basement or any room in the house.

The word tile once was used to designate a product made of fired clay or some other hard, tough material that could be broken but not dented.

These days it is used loosely to describe many different items, ranging from a drain tile, which resembles a short length of pipe, to a ceiling tile, which is anything but a hard, tough material. In some cases, the tile—possibly to get away from the misnomer—is called a panel.

It is because a ceiling tile or panel is of fibrous, porous quality that it has such excellent value—entirely aside from its decorative purposes.

It absorbs sound and so prevents noise from bouncing around a room. This is true with even the ordinary fiberboard type of ceiling tile, although the modern acoustical tile has even greater sound-deadening qualities.

ONCE available only in white and ivory, and in 12-by-12 squares, the tiles now are available in a wide variety of striking designs, color schemes and sizes to harmonize with all types of room furnishings.

It is wise to purchase the tiles at least a day or two before you plan to begin the installation. Open the cartons and leave them in the room where they will be put up.

This permits the tiles to become acclimated to temperature and moisture conditions so that they will not unduly expand or contract within the 24 hours or so after being attached.

Mix panels from two or more cartons for the best blending of finishes rather than working from one carton at a time.

Before putting up the furring strips—to which the tiles are stapled—measure the ceiling area carefully for width and length.

This establishes the total number of tiles to be used. For example, if the ceiling measures 102 inches in width and 128 inches in length, and the panels are the 12-by-12 size, it is established that eight panels are needed for the width with 3-inch borders. By the same token, 10 panels are needed for the length with 4-inch borders.

IN THIS instance, the borders are somewhat narrow. Since narrow borders are not generally considered desirable, it is advisable to subtract one panel from the width and one from the length.

This leaves a wider border—seven panels for the width, with 9-inch borders, and nine panels for the length, with 10-inch borders. The furring strips are then nailed in place so that the edges of all tiles fall on the wood and do not hang in the air.

Placing the tiles in simple, even rows is the quickest and most popular way of installing them. But you can get more interesting effects by putting up the tiles in staggered patterns rather than with continuous joints. This is done by starting alternate rows with half-tiles.

Stapling is preferred over nailing because it virtually eliminates any chance of damaging the panels while putting them up.

Most tiles come with special tongue-and-groove arrangement. One type, for instance, has a so-called "lightning joint" that allows the tiles to be fitted together quickly and easily and keeps them in automatic alignment.

HEAVY DRIFTING OF SNOW marooned several rural homes after a blizzard roared through South Bend, Ind. Here, the house at the rear seems dwarfed by the pile of snow. Drifts up to 10 feet high were reported and Army Reservists manned five-ton trucks to plow through the snow to aid those marooned and deliver emergency fuel and food supplies. (UPI Telephoto)

Most Pocket Books Would Be Tapped

Many Would Feel Budget Requests

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's budget requests would tap the pocket books of car owners, mail users, plane travelers, farmer-members of co-ops, and others.

Few American households, in fact, would escape entirely a contribution to putting the government's own financial house in order.

Although he called for no general tax increase, the President asked Congress today for more than $1,300,000,000 of new or increased taxes, postal rates, charges and fees.

The proposed boost from 3 to 4½ cents a gallon in the federal gasoline tax would cost motorists 690 million dollars in the year starting next July 1 and 900 million dollars annually thereafter, budget director Maurice H. Stans estimated.

Higher postal rates would add another 350 million. The administration is expected to seek a 5-cent first class rate.

Raising the aviation gasoline tax from 2 cents a gallon to 4½ cents and levying a new 4½ cents tax on jet fuels would provide another 51 million dollars to start.

This might seem to affect only airlines and owners of private planes, but Eisenhower made it clear the cost could be passed on to the public. He said:

"These increased costs should be includable, along with other airline costs, in determining the rates charged the ultimate users of air transportation."

What Eisenhower called corrective legislation to collect more taxes from farm and consumer cooperatives, together with revised depletion allowances for the brick, cement and some minerals industries, would add 50 million dollars to the government's take.

A proposed tax revision affecting life insurance companies would bring the Treasury another 200 million dollars.

The Navy would spend $11,596,000,000 and the Army $9,264,000,000.

Eisenhower said outlays for missiles and research and development will rise more than 800 million dollars.

Eisenhower told Congress he plans a 383-million-dollar cut in the mutual security program. Military assistance would be trimmed by 462 millions to $1,850,000,000 but economic aid would edge up 79 millions to $1,648,000,000.

In a related area, Eisenhower asked Congress to provide $1,375,000,000 to increase the U.S. subscription to the International Monetary Fund. If Congress agrees, this sum will be added to spending in fiscal 1959—a big reason for the increased deficit predicted.

With the bigger deficit comes a bigger debt. The President said he wants the permanent debt ceiling lifted to 285 billion dollars, plus an even higher unspecified temporary increase. The ceiling is

Sled Accident Injures Child

Wellsville Man Hurt In Tumble On Ice

A city boy was hospitalized after a sledding mishap and a Wellsville man was admitted to City Hospital following a fall on ice over the weekend. Five others were treated after separate accidents.

Rex Campbell, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell of Vine St., is in "fairly good" condition with a fractured right ankle received while coasting Sunday.

Robert Russell, 27, of Commerce St., Wellsville, is in "good" condition with a fracture of the right ankle suffered in a fall on ice.

When her sled ran into a post yesterday, Lexie Taylor, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor, 1123 Railroad St., received cuts of the forehead, eyebrow, cheek and thigh.

Joanne Watson, 23, of Salineville R. D. 3 was treated yesterday for a possible fracture of the right arm received in a fall while ice skating.

Dora Taylor, 27, of Ceramic St. was treated for a sprain of the left ankle suffered in a fall at home Sunday.

John Porter, 42, of Irondale, an employee of the Dravo Corp. of Pittsburgh, was treated Saturday for a laceration of the scalp received when a metal bar fell on him at work.

Joseph Vala, 14-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Vala of Euclid, was treated yesterday morning for a cut nose suffered when he pulled a chest of drawers onto himself.

Swearingin Approved For Council's Vacancy

NEW CUMBERLAND — Elmer Swearingin has been approved by Town Council and Mayor Albert (Jackie) Fucy as a new Council member to replace Thomas Myers, who recently moved outside the city limits.

Swearingin, a resident of Eden Valley, is employed at the Weirton Steel Co. He received the oath of office last week from Mrs. Mary Lou Wagner, city clerk. Council's next session is not scheduled until early February, town officials said.

due to drop from 283 billions to 283 billions on July 1.

Eisenhower predicted the debt, now 283 billions, will be two billions higher at the start and finish of fiscal 1960.

Wellsville Area Couple Made Ill By Gas Fumes

A Wellsville area couple was treated at City Hospital Saturday night after they were overcome by gas fumes in their trailer home.

Budget

prosperous and expanding economy."

Rep. John Taber (R-NY), senior GOP member of the House Appropriations committee, also said he thinks government agencies can get along on what Eisenhower proposed, but Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo) of the Appropriations group called the budget impractical.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson indicated that if Congress boosts spending in the new budget, a tax increase — rather than a cut — would become a real possibility.

Anderson said revenue estimates for fiscal 1960 assume personal income in calendar 1959 will rise more than 20 billion dollars to 374 billions. He said the Treasury believes corporate profits will increase 10½ billions to 47 billions and that the gross national product will advance nearly 20 billions to 470 billions.

The President disclosed that in the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, the government's finances will be even deeper in the red than had been predicted. He said recession-hit revenues will fall $12,871,000,000 short of matching indicated spending of $30,871,000,000.

He said this whopping deficit—the biggest ever in peacetime—will make necessary another request to Congress for an increase in the legal ceiling on the national debt.

For fiscal 1960, Eisenhower forecast revenues of $77,100,000,000—a rise of nearly nine billion dollars. He said tax receipts will be swelled to near-record levels by "a rapidly advancing economy."

By the President's calculations, present revenue laws alone wouldn't produce a balanced budget. He is asking Congress to pass legislation that would increase budget receipts by 600 million dollars in fiscal 1960.

Eisenhower proposed raising 350 millions by again boosting postal rates, which went up only last August. He will submit details on this and other revenue proposals later.

The federal gasoline tax would be hiked to 4½ cents a gallon, from the present 3 cents. The added revenue—more than 600 million dollars the first year—would go into a special trust fund to finance roadbuilding. Eisenhower said the increase, designed to keep the trust fund in the black, should go into effect July 1 and expire on June 30, 1964.

Anticipating Democratic claims that he is being too thrifty, Eisenhower said his budget "responds to national needs, with due regard to urgencies and priorities, without being either extravagant or unduly limiting."

"We cannot, of course, undertake to satisfy all proposals for government spending," he declared.

The President said his proposals "are realistic and can be achieved with the cooperation of the Congress." He conceded a lot also depends on "popular support and developments in our economy and in the world."

The ease with which the budget could slip into the red was pointed up by, among other things:

1. The distinct possibility that Congress may not go along with all recommendations for increasing revenue.

2. The obvious guesswork involved in estimating outlays for farm price supports. The subsidies this year are running more than two billion dollars above the total estimated a year ago.

As in all recent budgets, national security programs account for the lion's share—$45,805,000,000 or nearly 60 per cent.

Of this total, Eisenhower has earmarked $40,945,000,000 for the Defense Department, an increase of 145 millions. Security aspects of the atomic energy program account for an additional $2,745,000,000 — up 115 millions. Defense stockpiling and foreign military aid make up the remainder of the security expenditures.

Incidentally, the budget assumes extension of the one-year suspension of U.S. nuclear tests which began last Oct. 31. No money is provided for weapons tests in fiscal 1960.

Both the Army and the Navy would spend a bit more under the new budget. Air Force outlays, however, would be reduced by $18 million dollars, to $18,675,000,000.

Potters Bow To Midland, 57-35, In 7th Straight Defeat

The Review Sports

MONDAY, JANUARY 19, 1959 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 16

THIS IS ONE rebound that didn't get away from Midland as Steve Yetso (25) and Gene Lake (with only hands and arms showing) grab the ball in front of East Liverpool's Bob Beatty (42) during action Saturday night at Memorial Auditorium. Midland walked away with a 57-35 victory.

Salem Routs Sebring Quint

SEBRING — Salem High's ninth-ranked Quakers scored their ninth victory in 10 games here Saturday night by rolling over Sebring, 77-46, at the McKinley High School gymnasium.

Woody Deitch, who is averaging close to 20 points a game, led the Quaker scoring with 18, while Dan Krichbaum hit for 16. Hunter had 15 and Slaby 13.

Coach John Cabas' Quakers, beaten only by Cleveland East Tech, the state's top-rated quint, led at halftime 33-23 and raced to a 61-33 lead after three periods. The defeat was the eighth straight for the Sebring Trojans. Art Tuel led the losers with 15 points.

Potter Reserves Lose In Overtime To Midland, 54-53

A pair of foul shots by D'Angelo gave the Midland reserves a 54-53 overtime victory over the East Liverpool reserves Saturday night.

The regular game ended 52-52 after junior guard Phil Chan connected on a set shot from the side in the fading seconds to bring East Liverpool from behind.

In the overtime, Chan hit on a free throw to give the Potter reserves a 53-52 lead, but another by Tim Archer, a sophomore, went astray. Archer then fouled D'Angelo who made both shots, the first tying the game at 53-53 and the next meaning the victory.

The Potter reserves lost the game at the foul line as they outscored Midland's jayvees 17-0 from the floor, 20 to 17. Midland dropped in 20 of 32 free throws. The Potter squad hit 13 of 24.

Chan and Cookie Goodballe led the scoring attack for Coach Frank Chan's hustling reserves. Chan had 13 points and Goodballe 14. Mike Geon contributed nine in the losing cause.

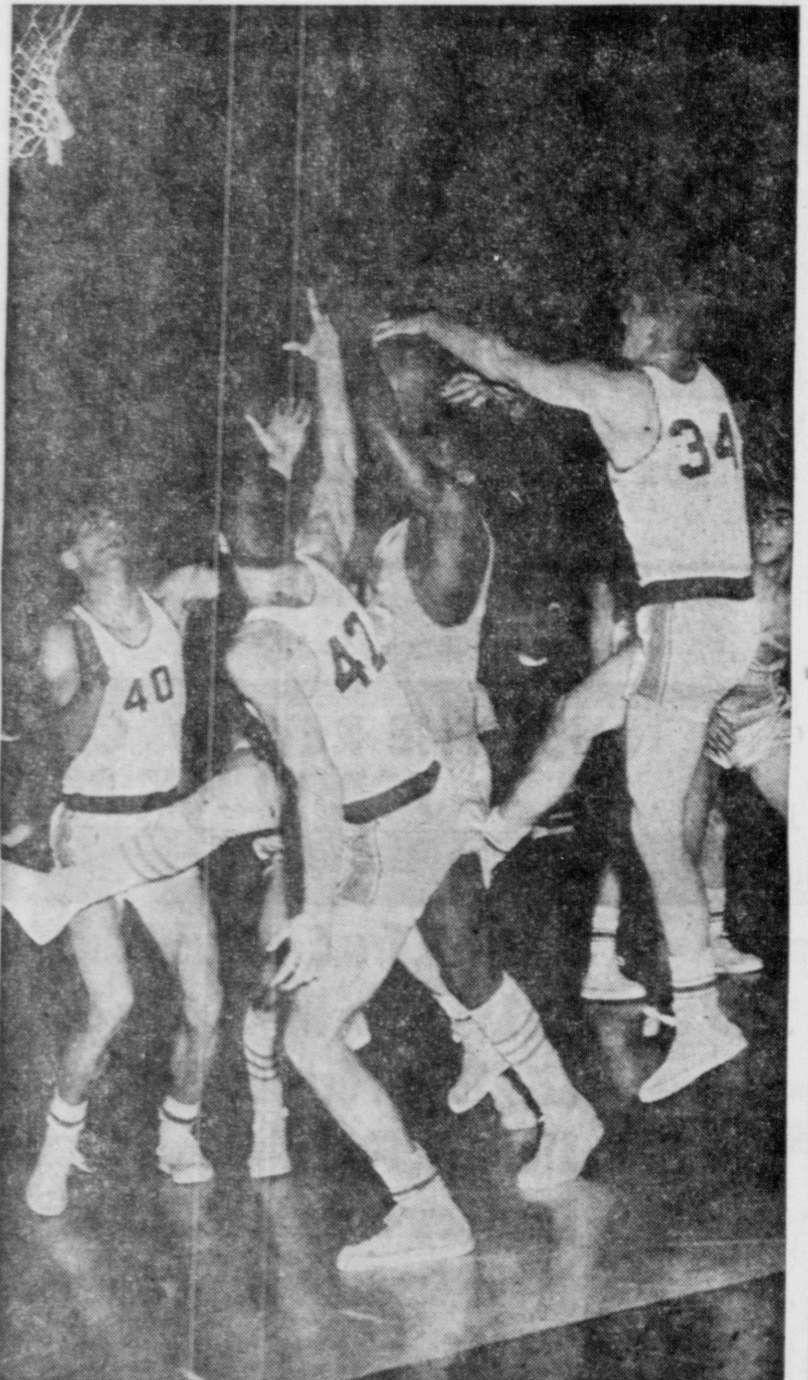

Barney Silverman, a 6-1 stand-out, topped Midland's scoring and took honors for the game with 18 points. Larry Merage chipped in with 11.

No. 16 School Cagers Defeat Wayne, 26-11

No. 16 School drubbed eighth graders from Wayne School, 26-11, in an elementary basketball game Friday afternoon at the Salineville High School gym.

Butch Eastham topped the winners' scoring with 11 points, Lester Cramer had 7 and Don Frischkorn 6.

MIDLAND'S Movie Smith (35) got himself into a jam when he ran into this trio of Potters Saturday night. Attempting to tie up the Midland cager is Craig Burbeck, (34) Bob Beatty (42) and Ray Bigelow (40).

High-Jumping Sensation May Go Above 7 Feet 2

BOSTON (AP) — Shy John Thomas has increased his high jumping level 6½ inches over the last 300 days to reach the indoor world record. And he's just a growing boy of 17.

How high can he go? "He'll do 7 feet, 2 inches someday and that's good enough for me," says Boston University Field Coach Ed Flanagan.

Some feel he'll top that figure. The Boston University freshman cleared 6 feet, 11½ inches Saturday night at the Knights of Columbus track meet here. A week earlier he hit 6-11 in a dual meet.

Ken Weisner set the recognized indoor mark of 6-10½ in 1953. What makes Thomas' performances more remarkable is the speed of his advancement. Last March Thomas, at Cambridge's Ringe Technical High School, won the Massachusetts state schoolboy meet in 6-5½. Ten months later he had jumped 6½ inches higher.

Thomas' winning leap actually measured 6-11½ Saturday night but AAU rules specify such efforts must be cut to the nearest quarter inch.

The world outdoor mark is 7-1. Thomas achieved his record in the midst of the mile run as Ireland's Ron Delaney jogged to a 4:03.3 triumph—his 25th straight board mile victory and 30th indoor race.

Other winners: 50 yard dash—Paul Winder, Morgan State, 5.4; 45 yard hurdles—Lee Calhoun, Durham, N.C., 5.6. 600—Ed Collymore, Villanova, 1:11.1. 1,000—Dave Scurluck, North Carolina, 2:12.1. Two mile—Lew Steigitz, U.S. Navy, 8:58.6. Pole vault—Don Bragg, Philadelphia, 15-0.

Beaver Cagers Triumph In 2 Games With Newell

Beaver Local swept both games with Newell Saturday night at the Beaver Local elementary gymnasium.

The first game found the Beaver seventh graders drubbing Newell's seventh graders, 25-8. Beaver Junior High rolled over Newell's junior high squad, 41-13, in a second game.

Ralph Dawson and Gary Berhar led the Beaver juniors in scoring with 13 and 12 points, respectively. Gillespie's six were high for the losers.

Lake Sparks Leopards To Their Victory

By CHUCK CRONIN

Their losing streak reached seven games in a row as the East Liverpool Potters bowed to Midland, 57-35, Saturday night at Memorial Auditorium.

Outclassed in every department, the hapless Potters were in contention for only part of the first half in losing their 10th game in 11 starts.

Coach George T. Hamilton's Leopards moved to a 27-15 lead at halftime, then pulled away rapidly in succeeding quarters for their 11th triumph in 14 games with little exertion.

ANY EXPECTED battle between the nearby rivals failed to develop as the Potters helped beat themselves with poor shooting, bad passing and nearly a non-existent defense in the second half.

With junior jump shot artist Gene Lake setting the pace, Midland exploded for 17 points in the third quarter to build up a tremendous lead and win in a walk-away.

Fans who stayed on hand for the second half saw the score doubled at least twice. Midland's rousing third quarter started with five consecutive connections on shots before the confused Potters could counter.

It was the third game of the season East Liverpool has lost by 20 or more points. Farrell triumphed in the opener by 23 and Columbus East buried the Blue and White by 29 in one of the worst lacings in many years.

FOUR MIDLAND cagers posted double scoring figures in the rout, with Lake hitting 14 on seven field goals. Frank Alo, although unheralded previously as a scorer, showed much promise on drive shots from his guard position and hit 12 points.

Movie Smith, 6-3, 200-pound plus center, also hit double figures for Midland with 10 points and pulled in most of Midland's rebounds. Steve Yetso tallied 10 points.

For the Potters, sophomore guard Ken Cunningham led the attack with five goals and a foul for 11 points. Cunningham's shooting was erratic the entire game, mostly because he was hounded by Lake on defense. Lake stands 6-2, Cunningham only 5-10.

None of the other Potter starters was able to contribute much to the impotent attack, as junior Bob Mackall hit only eight before fouling out in the late stages, and the tall front court trio of Bob Beatty, Ray Bigelow and Craig Burbeck had less.

Midland increased its halftime lead to 22 within minutes of the third quarter on a corner jump shot by Smith, three jumps in a row by the clever Lake and a driving layup by Yetso. Before Beatty could tally one of his two field goals for the game, Midland had made the lead 37-15 and the Potters faded rapidly.

BIGELOW'S rebounding was the lone bright spot for the Potters. He didn't help much offensively, however.

Only six Potters saw action. Jan Allen, senior letterman, filled in for Burbeck momentarily, but failed to score.

Midland, exhibiting class and poise throughout the game, shot 42 per cent from the floor in hitting 24 of 57 shots. The Potters made only 16 of 29 for 27 per cent. Midland made 9 of 18 fouls and East Liverpool 3 of 9. Mackall was the only player on either side to leave the game on personal fouls.

The victory was only Midland's second in 15 games with East Liverpool. The Potters swept 13 straight from the Leopards from 1904 through 1957. Midland now has two victories in a row in the last two campaigns.

A sidelight of the game was Burbeck's second spectacular long shot of the season as the buzzer sounded the end of final quarter. Burbeck sent one whizzing through the nets from about 44 feet, about the same distance from the hoop as another he rimmed in a previous game.

The Potters will meet Steubenville Central Catholic here Saturday night.

Midland faces a sterner test in its next game Tuesday night at Monaca against the Section 8 WPIAL unbeaten league-leaders.

Cleveland Newsmen Will Honor Colavito

CLEVELAND (AP)—The men for whom he provided so many leads during the last baseball season reciprocate tonight by honoring Rocky Colavito as their "man of the year" among 1958 Cleveland Indians.

About 600 will be on hand to watch the Baseball Writers Chapter stage their annual skit and present the popular rightfielder his award.

Three Former Midland Gridders Are Honored

AMONG THOSE ATTENDING Saturday night's banquet at Midland were, left to right, John Petchel, Lincoln High coach; Joe Walton, a former All-American at Pitt now with the Washington Redskins; Ivan Tonic; Burgess Eli Corak; John Flara, and Frank Carver of the University of Pittsburgh.

Some 265 Midland fans and boosters were on hand Saturday for Midland's Appreciation Night honoring three of its football players who have made a name for themselves on the Pittsburgh University football squad.

Honored were John Flara, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Flara of Midland Heights; Henry Suffoletta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Suffoletta of 73 7th St., and Ivan Tonic, son of Mrs. Frances Tonic of 449 Beaver Ave.

Suffoletta was unable to attend. He is in the hospital with injuries received in a basketball scrimmage last Thursday.

The players were presented gifts as tokens of appreciation of the Midland fans by Burgess Eli Corak, chairman and toastmaster for the event.

Guests included Supt. Ralph H. Jewell; Frank Carver, graduate athletic faculty manager of Pitt; Vic Fusia, backfield coach at Pitt, and John Petchel, Lincoln High mentor who coached the three honored players, Tonic in 1955-56 and Suffoletta and Flara during 1954-55.

Flara and Tonic both spoke briefly. Suffoletta's gift was presented to his father.

Entertainment followed the dinner at the St. Anthony Club and included Herby Harrison as emcee, Marty Hayes, song and dance, and Mary Lou O'Toole, blues singer, all of Pittsburgh. The Lou Mann Orchestra of Alliquippa played.

Dinner was served by the St. Anthony auxiliary. Arranging the affair were: Executive committee — Corak, chairman, Rudolph Presutti, Steve Gernusa, Robert Masters, Ernest Gengarella, Nick Carter and Harvey Spencer. Food and entertainment — Rudolph Presutti, chairman, Louis Gengarella, Anthony Pantoni, Zanvel Sigal, Raymond Presutti, Nick D'Innocenzo, Larry Cuccaro and Nick Deramo.

Tickets — Steve Gernusa, chairman, Rocco Ciancone, John Fieni, Sullivan Tonti, John Falcia, John Shovin III, Frank Migliore, Joseph Hibbard and John Fantone.

Welcome — William Vinovich, chairman, Ed Steff, Art Petrosky, Frank Suffoletta and Leslie Roach.

Publicity — Robert Masters, chairman, Joe D'Alesio, James Morrison, Lester Trainer, Edward Cilli, Marvin Bahm, Wilbert Basinger and Don Parker.

Art Wall Wins Crosby Event

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Despite a $6,000-victory in the Bing Crosby golf tournament, Art Wall Jr., may look up his pro golfing buddies for a little help. The lean Pennsylvanian credits three colleagues for making him the year's leading money winner.

but he didn't look that way Sunday on the final nine of the 72-hole extravaganza played over three courses.

Wall carded a final nine of 41 while Gene Littler was closing fast. Only a shot hooked into the Pacific on the 18th removed the San Diego battler from contention.

He was nine down and in third place when the pair started the final eight holes. By the 18th he was only one down.

Littler came to the par five 540-yard hole with Wall anything but sharp. He had three-putted both the 16th and 17th.

But with a national television audience looking on, Littler hooked his second shot into the ocean. He said he was not pressing, that he was trying for position for a good approach.

The TV program time ran out before the golfers putted but viewers must have known who would win.

Wall took a six and won with a 279 after shooting 34-41-75 for the day. Littler and Jimmy Demaret, who started the day in second place, tied for second with 281 and $2,150 apiece.

Wall won $4,000 for the individual pro and $2,000 for low pro-amateur score — 252 — with National Amateur champion Charles Coe. Littler added $1,200 to his haul as he and Art Anderson of Hollywood finished third in the pro-am with 259.

The big haul gave Wall $9,970 for three tournaments this year. He said, however, he was worried about his recent bad finishes. He finished second at Los Angeles and tied for 12th at Tijuana.

After that final 41 Sunday, he indicated he might seek more advice before the Palm Springs Thunderbird Invitational starts Thursday.

The Rochester, N. Y., High School Bowling League is in its 28th season. It has 12 teams.

5 Quints Tied In YMCA Loop

Five teams remained undefeated after the second week of play in the YMCA's junior church cage league Saturday at the 'Y' floor.

Notching their second win were First Church of Christ, which defeated Second United Presbyterian, 42-1; St. Stephen's Episcopal, 14-2 over First Methodist; Boyce Methodist, 40-18 over Oakland Free Methodist.

First United Presbyterian handed Wellsville Central Methodist a 46-13 defeat and Chester First Methodist downed Sacred Heart of Chester, 20-14.

In the three other contests, First Presbyterian tripped Chester First Christian, 21-10; while St. Aloysius exploded with a 40-13 win over Chester Presbyterian and First Nazarene trimmed St. John's Lutheran, 20-15.

Mostoller of First Church of Christ ran away with scoring honors with a 20-point performance against Second United Presbyterian.

Three members of the First United Presbyterian squad broke into the double figures against Wellsville Central Methodist. McCoy led the way with 16 while L. Oliver and Cluser dropped in 12 each. Baughman paced the losers with 10 points.

McElhenny's 10 markers topped Boyce Methodist while Savina tossed in eight for the losing Oakland Free Methodist quint.

Johnson scored eight points in Chester First Methodist's win over Sacred Heart Church. Clutter paced the losers with five.

Bylstone's five markers were high for St. Stephen's, while Howell scored the lone field goal for First Methodist.

Stover and Hall with six each were the big guns for First Nazarene, while Martin tossed in eight for St. John's Lutheran. Steff's 14 points led St. Aloysius and Pugh scored 9 of Chester Presbyterian's 13.

Locke's 10 points topped First Presbyterian and Champion collected four for the losing Chester First Christian team.

Canton Bowler Second In Petersen Tourney

CHICAGO (AP)—William Wagner of South Bend, Ind., held first place in the Petersen Bowling Classic, topping 1,629 pins Sunday.

Wagner's score topped that of John Hunt, Canton, Ohio, who has totaled 1,613 pins.

Other Ohioans in the top ten are Joseph Drusbacky, Port Clinton, 1602; Chester Stone, Cleveland, 1600; and Bill Plautz, North Olmsted, 1596.

Cards Count On Rookies To Get Them Out Of Rut

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals apparently are going to leave it to eager beavers in their 1959 bid to claw their way out of the second division.

Rookies will constitute the greater portion of their roster when the Red Birds line up before their new manager, Solly Hemus, on opening day of spring training next month. In addition, there will be at least a half dozen fledglings on the squad getting thorough tests. Only the matter of book keeping and the 40-player limit keep their names from being on the parent club roster.

Bing Devine, the Cards' personable general manager, is fully aware of the reason for the club's failure last year—lack of sufficient pitching and power. He has brought up 16 freshman hurlers and a couple of long ball hitting outfielders in an effort to plug the weakness.

The best of the new pitchers may be Ernie Broglio, 23, Nelson Chittum, 25, and Marshall Bridges, 27. All are right-handers. Others rated a fair chance to stick are right-handers Bob Blaylock, 23, and Dick Ricketts, 25, and southpaws Ray Luebke, 23 and Bill Smith, 24.

Broglio was acquired in a post-season trade with the San Francisco Giants. The husky Californian had a brilliant top minor league record in 1958. After coping eight out of nine decisions with Phoenix in the Pacific Coast League, he was switched to Toronto where he posted a 9-3 record.

Chittum was brought up after compiling a 12-8 half-season mark in Omaha where he turned in a fine .273 ERA. Bridges was purchased from Sacramento where he won 16 while losing 11.

Blaylock was 8-14 at Omaha but the Card brass liked what they saw of him in Japan. Ricketts was 15-13 at Rochester. Luebke, a relief pitcher, was drafted from San Antonio where he was 11-7. Smith, who also specializes in saving games, was 12-9 at Omaha.

Frank Barnes, Gary Blaylock (no relation to Bob) and Phil Clark are back for another trial. Ellis Burton, a switch-hitter from Houston, may have the best chance to break into the outfield. Only 22, he came fast in the closing weeks of the season to finish with a .286 batting average. He can play any infield position as well as the outfield.

Joe Durham, 26, was drafted from Vancouver where he batted .285, hit 18 home runs and drove in 85 runs. Charles James, a young bonus outfielder, bears watching. He drove in 104 runs for Houston in his first year of professional ball and was voted the Texas League's rookie of the year.

Wally Shannon, Duke Carmel, Jim McKnight and Lee Tate are the new infielders. Shannon, son of Walter Shannon, the Cards' able farm director, batted .350 for Houston the last half of the season to finish with .290. Carmel, a New York City product, is a power hitter when he connects, which hasn't been often enough. He hit 15 home runs at Houston and Rochester but his average in both places was under .260.

Sam Dawson led San Jose State's 1958 football team in yards gained with 339 for a 5.9 average and in scoring with 26 points, two more than Clarion Appleborn.

Young Boxer Dies In Hospital After Losing Fight In Texas

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—"He promised me that if he lost this fight he would quit and take care of me and the baby," said the young widow, who is an expectant mother.

Pretty Mrs. Nan Davis, 20, cheered for husband Lynn, 21, as he climbed into the ring to face Billy Strother in the welterweight finals of the Houston Golden Gloves Tournament Saturday night.

Strother had four years of amateur boxing experience to Lynn's two. After the first round, the edge was evident.

Davis took several good blows from his short, stocky opponent and appeared unable to defend himself. Referee Ernie Taylor stopped it.

I'm It' Right Name For Berkshire Hog

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Young Robert Bockhop made no mistake when he named his choice Berkshire hog "I'm It."

"I'm It" was chosen the grand champion barrow at the Southern Wisconsin Junior Live Stock Exposition. And Robert received a $711 check for the auction sale of his 237-pound hog. That's $3 a pound.

Student Commuters Set Up Own 'KKK'

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—Commuting students at Southern Illinois University decided to name their club "KKK."

It doesn't mean Ku Klux Klan—it's "Kampus Kommuter's Klub." The 40 members indicated it would have a Greek organization significance to match fraternity and sorority activities on campus.

Sticky Fingers Habit Retained In Prison

MALESTER, Okla. (AP)—"The Eye Opener," the newspaper at the Oklahoma State Penitentiary, noted that the prison library had received four new books.

At the bottom was a footnote from the librarian: "Will the guy with the sticky fingers please return the last book mentioned?"

Down In The Dumps

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP)—It was good business—not the lack of it—that drove dress shop owner Donald Faulkner to rooting around in the city dump. He was looking—without any luck—for $2,900 in store receipts dumped from the wastebasket where he had hidden it.

Deer Shopping

WARSAW, Va. (AP)—A heavy snow here revealed a deer's shopping habits. The animal went window shopping, pressed his nose against a grocery window so hard he bloodied it, then stood on his hind legs to inspect an appliance store. No one had a chance to inquire what the deer was seeking before he fled into a nearby field.

Ability Slurred?

LAGRANGE, Ind. (AP)—Raymond Troyer considered his musical ability had been slurred when he telephoned this classified ad to the LAGRANGE Standard: "For Sale trombone and boxer pups." The ad came out reading: "For sale, trombone and box of plugs."

"When he came off the ring he was smiling," Mrs. Davis said. "Then after he sat down, he leaned back and suddenly turned white as a sheet."

Doctors at nearby Jefferson Davis Hospital pronounced him dead a few minutes later.

"Lynn promised he would quit fighting," she said, "but neither of us really believed he would." Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk, the county pathologist, said he found evidence of "acute heart failure" but the cause of death would not be established for about a week.

A teammate broke the news of Davis' death to Strother, 22. He appeared stunned. "This is something I'll have to live with the rest of my life," he said. "I'll probably never fight again."

Housewife's Making Faces—For A Living

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Karl Hunt makes faces—for a living.

The faces are paper and paste masks which the young housewife turns out for as much as $250 each for television and movies. She began making them—mostly of public or fictional figures—after studying Greek and Roman theatrical masks in school.

Living Ancestors

HOBBES, N. M. (AP)—It'll be no surprise if Zane Edward Cargile gets just a little spoiled. Born here recently, he has four grandparents, four great-grandparents and two great-great-grandparents. Eight of them live in his hometown Hobbs.

Bound To Happen

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—It was bound to happen. Car bumper posters in the recent election campaign reading "I Am Opposed to the Right-to-Work Law" were trimmed by many motorists to read: "I Am Opposed To Work."

LEGAL NOTICES

LEGAL NOTICE

Case No. 54911
Myrl Barlow who resides at Box 304 K, Solana Beach, in San Diego County, California, and Mary M. Taylor, who resides at 331 South Sierra, Solana Beach in San Diego County, California, will take notice that G. Jay Clark, Administrator of the Estate of Matthew T. Barlow, deceased, on the 6th day of December, 1958, filed his petition in the Probate Court within and for the County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, alleging that the personal estate of said decedent is insufficient to pay his debts and the charges of administration, and that he died seized in fee simple of the following described real estate situated in said county, to wit:

Situated in the Township of Liverpool, County of Columbiana, and State of Ohio: And known as and being part of the southwest quarter of Section 33 Township 6 and Range 1, bounded by beginning at a point in the west line of said Section 33 which is 714.36 feet south of the quarter section corner and running thence east 726 feet to a point; thence, south 80 feet; thence west 726 feet; thence north with the said section line 60 feet to the place of beginning, containing one acre in area.

that Myrl Barlow as widow of said decedent is entitled to dower in said Premises.

The prayer of said petition is for sale of said premises for the payment of the debts and charges above said.

The persons first above mentioned will further take notice that they have been made parties defendant to said petition and that they are required to answer the same on or before the 20th day of January, A.D. 1959.

G. Jay Clark, Adm. of the Estate of Matthew T. Barlow, Deceased.

Under Common Market In Europe

World Trade Takes On A New Look

By JEROME OELBAU
NEW YORK (NANA) — "International trade," said an industrialist recently, "has been given an entirely new dimension by the inauguration of the Common Market in Europe."

The industrialist was Stanley C. Allyn, chairman of the board of National Cash Register Co., and he was speaking before some 2,500 businessmen in the field of international finance, trade and transportation.

The problem now faced by American firms that sell goods to Europe is to determine how they fit into this added dimension. The nature of the new European institution is such that the problem has two distinct facets for the corporate executive:

"How can I protect my present sales to Europe?"

What are the opportunities for developing more business in Europe?"

The element of protection comes into the picture because there is a very real danger — almost a certainty — that some U.S. exports will be hurt.

Many American-made goods are already meeting stiff competition as a result of the expansion of European industry.

THE FREEING of trade within the Common Market countries (France, Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg) is expected to give tremendous impetus to the rationalization of European industry, particularly in those fields where national barriers have impeded the growth of mass production.

This will mean even greater competition for many of the products that enter into the average $2,700,000,000 annual flow of U.S. goods to the six countries.

Of more immediate importance than this long-term trend is the tariff discrimination U.S. and other non-member countries will have to contend with.

On Jan. 1 the six governments began their 12 to 15-year program of tariff adjustments. Tariffs are to be cut 10 per cent for their mutual trade. Import quotas are to be increased by 20 per cent, or more, if they do not come up to an amount equal to 3 per cent of the national production of the specific product by the importing country.

Bilateral quotas — quantities fixed for importation from any other individual member of the common market — will be combined into one quota covering all of the six governments.

THIS PROCESS will continue until goods produced in any one of the six will be able to move into all of the others without tariffs or quota restrictions. The last possible date for the attainment of this goal, under the treaty, is 1973.

The Common Market countries have decided to apply part of the initial 10 per cent tariff cut to all 37 countries of the general agreement on tariffs and trade, of which the U.S. is a member.

This decision was a by-product of the six countries' negotiations for a free trade area link to other West European countries and must be taken as a deviation not likely to recur.

The Common Market treaty calls for the gradual adoption of a single tariff by the six for trade with other nations.

The over-all rule provides for an averaging of the members' individual tariffs.

The first move toward this average will not be made until Jan. 1, 1962. Tariffs that do not differ by more than 15 per cent from the average will be converted to the average. In other cases, the difference will be narrowed by 30 per cent either through an increase or cut in the individual country's duties.

The prospect is that in 1973 goods produced in any one of the Common Market countries will be able to move into all of the others without tariffs or quota restrictions.

Goods made elsewhere will have to pay tariffs, and U.S. manufacturers — and companies in other "outside" countries — will be discriminated against to some extent.

THESE PERILS of new competition and tariff discrimination, however, should not be overemphasized. Their ultimate weight in the balance of gain or loss for U.S. companies will depend, paradoxically, upon the success rather than the failure of the Common Market itself.

If this new institution fulfills the high expectations of its creators, Europe's economy will be catapulted into a period of intense prosperity.

The gross national product — total output of goods and services — of the six nations has been expanding at the rate of 4½ per cent a year. (The U.S. growth rate has been only 3.8 per cent.)

The institution of free movement of goods, labor and capital in the Common Market area could accelerate the trend. And as these nations produce more, they are bound to need more raw materials, semi-finished goods, component parts, capital equipment from abroad.

The basic problem then, as industrialists see it, is first, to anticipate shifts in Europe's import needs, and second, to cash in on Europe's further growth where necessary and financially feasible by acquiring production facilities within the area itself.

Escaped Patient Seized After Kidnaping Three

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — An escaped mental patient who kidnaped three persons in Columbia, Mo., Friday was captured Sunday by detectives.

He is Eugene Lewis, 37, who escaped Thursday from the Colorado State Mental Hospital in Pueblo. He had been transferred there 10 months ago from Colorado State Prison where he was serving 27 years for armed robbery and assault.

In Columbia, Lewis kidnaped Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Reeves and their house guest, Jesse Blaylock of Sallisaw, Okla. He forced them at gunpoint to drive him to St. Louis. He released them unharmed after their car broke down.

The trio called police and six detectives burst into Lewis' dingy room in south St. Louis, surprising him before he could get to a loaded pistol.

Circulation Man Dies

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — Leon E. Roettger, 59, a circulation executive for the Columbus, Ohio, Dispatch, died Sunday after suffering a heart attack on an east-bound passenger train. Roettger was on his way back to Columbus after attending an American Newspaper Guild meeting in Indianapolis.

Villages, Small Cities

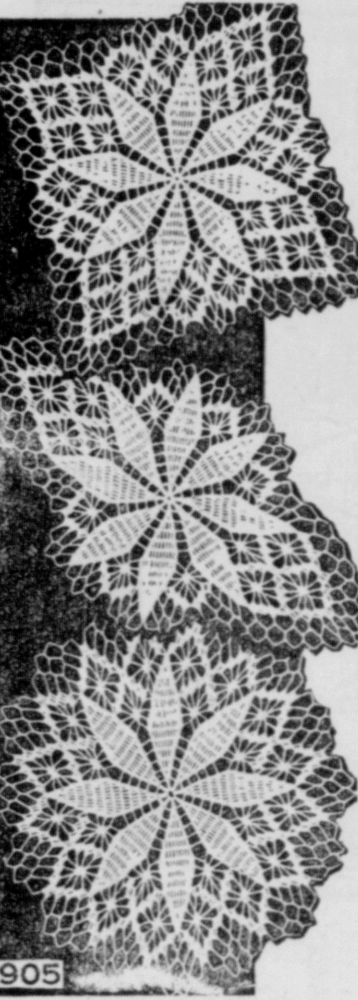

Fight To Keep Power

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Village and small city mayors are trying to get back some of the court jurisdiction they say they will lose when a new law goes into effect in January, 1960.

The Ohio Mayors Committee Sunday adopted a resolution which asks the legislature to restore concurrent jurisdiction of mayors' and municipal or county courts for minor violations. The law, passed by the last State Legislature, turns jurisdiction of all traffic violations on state routes over to municipal or county courts.

Under this law, traffic violations in small cities or villages occurring on state routes within municipal limits could not be heard in local court.

East End Lists More Reports Of Gas Fumes

Reports of gasoline fumes in East End business places and homes continued to grow over the weekend after the odor first was noticed Friday.

Firemen said the fumes were reported in various buildings over a six-block area Saturday afternoon. The first reports were received Friday afternoon from Ferello's Market, 1008 Pennsylvania Ave., and in the building next door owned by Bloor's Pharmacy, 1010 Pennsylvania Ave.

Firemen checked Jordan's Sohio Service Station, which is adjacent to the market, but found no apparent leakage of gasoline from underground tanks.

Firemen Saturday afternoon started receiving reports from homeowners on the "Hill Rd.," Kent St. and Monaca St., while the fumes also were reported in the Hill Building at Mulberry St. and Pennsylvania Ave. and Blackmore Refrigeration Sales & Service, 1254 Pennsylvania, which is six blocks away.

Firemen said today that one explanation is that the manhole covers are covered with snow and not allowing fumes to escape. But, they said, this does not explain how the gasoline is getting into the sewers.

THE MOST IMPORTANT $200 IN THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD!

It buys a Buick LESABRE instead...

We hope you'll look into this personally, before you buy a new car. Because the simple fact is that for just about $200 more than the price of the best models of the three leading low-priced cars... you can own a Buick LeSabre instead. You can check this any time by comparing the manufacturer's suggested retail prices posted right on the cars in the showrooms.

Not "stripped", but equipped as you want it
In the past, you may have run into price comparisons where the higher-priced car had no extra equipment, and the other had lots of it. This is not what we're talking about here. We mean only $200 more for a car fitted out the way you want it.

You could pick the LeSabre 2-door hardtop pictured here... including Twin-Turbine automatic transmission, radio, heater, white sidewall tires, electric windshield wipers, direction signals, lighter and automatic dome and glove compartment lights. Even with all that our statement will still stand up.

Furthermore, you'll own a BUICK
You'll have a fine car, with a fine-car ride, a true fine-car feel. You get a quieter, more substantial car. Not only are this year's Buicks the finest Buicks ever built, but they have been judged the "outstanding" cars in their field in a recent poll of car owners.

Plus new economy, high trade-in value
In designing this year's Buicks, the engineers planned to build noticeably better gas mileage into the cars. Reports now in from owners, and careful competitive tests, too, prove they did a very successful job.

Alongside all this, put the good trade-in value which the Buick name and Buick's successful new styling assure... and you can see why we say this $200 difference in price is the most important $200 in the automobile world today.

Won't you see your Quality Buick Dealer soon and let him prove it in detail?
